

MERRY MORSELS.

AND RADIANT REFLECTIONS
BY HENRY BLOUNT.Punctuated with Pungent Points and Spiced with Sweetest Sentiment

An echo is but hollow mockery Sang is the waste on language.
Adversity is a file that pride needs.
A broken silence is never repaired.
Where there is truth there is rest.
The hotel cook should be given a wide range.

Energy is the sand in the draw of en-surprise.

Industry and frugality are the golden keys to prosperity and success.

All children are not homeless but some are home less than others.

The more is to us what we are to it; we are ourselves to our own words.
Our punster says he would like to see the hair that covers the brow of a hill.

If you stroll through a forest all day you will be sure to wish for rest at night.

A frown is the shadow of ill temper which shuts out the sunlight of the soul.

A man in a passion resembles coal. The redder he gets the more heat he gives out.

When a poet tells more than that the ocean laid the shore, he does not refer to such fact-marks.

Out of beneficence or out of real solidness is worth all the abstract sentiment in the world.

It is not to prove happy, fall not too heavily, for the retrenchment of hope is the health of the intellect.

No word distills a fouler and more fatal poison than that which drips from the mouth of the vile and malicious slanderer.

The perfection of wisdom and the end of the philosophy is to proportion our want to our possessions, and our ambitions to our capabilities.

The eyes of a pretty woman are the integrity of the language of her heart.
They translate what the tongue fails to discuss in expressing.

When you reach the Jordan of Death and hear the roar of its breakers, all the treasures of the world will avail you nothing if Christ is not there to take your hand and lead you across the darkling tides.

Out of suffering have emerged the strongest souls, and the most massive characters have grown with years. Martyrs have put on their coronation robes glittering with fire, and through their tears have the sorrows of the world been given the serene peace that ends the gates of Heaven.

It frequently happens that the garland of enjoyment, even when it is wreathed with the very brightest and purest and sweetest and loveliest flowers of pleasure and of sympathy, may be so laden with thorns and briars of regret amid the fragrant and precious tresses, and before we are aware of it, and when we least expect it our hair is plucked with the sharp and jutting points.

When malice-instructed tongues speak unkind things about you, don't hide your face in the veil of gloom and mortification, but lift it up in the comforting sunlight of the fact that the finest tears, with the most valuable fruits, are those which are flung at the face of the world.

The oak, the monarch of the forest, that feels the hurtling blasts of the destruction, the lightning, while worthless brambles, upon the ground, are spared.

The caves and troubles that beset us in life are but the clinders and smoke and the dark that fly in our eyes as we go rattling but think God's railway train to Eternity.

It is a duty care, we will then go sailing over the steel-bottom of the crystal stream of endless life, and all the spray that rises from those sparkling waters of silver light will be the mingled with the fragrance of a million of flowers, and the chatter of the Savior's presence, and the brilliant sunbeams to God's unending love and mercy.

An Awful Anniversary.

The night is calm and lovely and beautiful, and for an hour we have been sitting by the window, and looking up into the quiet, peace-breathing heavens, and drinking in the blessedness of its harmonizing tranquillity. The moon is now showing down upon the quiet earth the mellowed beams of softest silver light, and everything, save even the leaves upon the trees, not having the gentle zephyrs to woo and to kiss them and to thrill them and to make them tremble and to quiver like a maiden's bosom when first swept by love waves in all their thrilling power—have seemingly gone to sleep under the radiant spread waves of soft mellow moon beams and the occasional diamond like flashes of scattered star waves. Seven years ago tonight—at this writing and about this very hour, it was just as the moon was in the mild, just as lovely, just as tranquil, and just as harmonizing, when in the twinkling of an eye God laid His hand upon the earth, and it trembled and quivered like a leaf in a storm. Reader, do you remember what a feeling of awe and of selflessness, of self dependence, and of trust through your heart when God's thrilling ave-appearing warning was heard in the manifestation of that power, which made the world quake and growl in the convulsions of its omnipotent grasp. No one who felt earth's trembling will ever forget the sensation of its own littleness, weakness and powerlessness combined and utter helplessness as well as the insignificance of earthly possession. The rich and the poor were poor, the high and the low were low, the presence of God, acknowledged the inec-ruity of all temporal things, and the power and authority of God in the affairs of men.

By such a phenomenon God rouses men from greed, selfishness and worldly lusts. He shakes up the earthly habitations that they may turn to a kingdom of glory, and move on to the life eternal.
He displays his power that men may fear Him. In the Bible God makes the world the scene of the crucifixion and destruction. "Yet once more I shake not the earth only but also the Heavens." In all the manifestations of God's providences He speaks to men, but the voice is not always heard. Men go on in shame and wickedness, and continue to toll and to struggle and to grasp for the perishing thing of this world as if this existence in its accumulations were to endure forever and to satisfy the imperishable longings of the soul. But that God speaks in the earthquake's shock a thrill runs through the hearts of all, and the proudest as well as the humblest, the richest as well as the poorest, are made to feel the power of the all meet together on the same plane of fear, and tremble alike at the supposed premonition of coming ruin and destruction. But these thrilling manifestations of God's wondrous power should not fill us all with such suspect fear and cowardly doubts, but rather with the love of the ever, reverence and adoration, and lift our thoughts, purged from all the corroding taints of sin, up to the contemplation of Him, and told of the wonders that we should remember that the same Hand, which shakes the earth and rends it asunder in the earthquake, is the same Hand that smooths down the ocean into a peaceful calm when a storm has been stirring its loam created waves into wilddest confusion.
Yes, the Hand that sweeps the sky with blackest clouds, and scatters forth the guttering and destruction dealing lightning in the storm's forked flashes, is the one that sprinkles down the rain, and the freshing showers, which give vigor and freshness and newness of life to all growing things, and which with the sky distills for our delight and joy the perfume of the flowers, is the one that surrounds them with thorns to prick our senses, and which with the lightning spreads such exquisite tints upon the lily and the rose; that decks the Autumn floor with their gorgeous draperies of a thousand tints, and all the spray that rises with their soft, rich velvet of ever refreshing green, and mingles that dark, deep blue of the evening, and the purple of the evening, and the purple of the evening, and the purple of the evening, and the purple of the evening, and the purple of the evening, his changeless color of the ether, and casts the roseate flush of early morning on the mountain tops of glassy lakes; that endows the morning brow with the rainbow with the glittering rainbow coronet, and hangs the wondrously blinding aurora borealis lamps upon the Northern Pole, God's handiwork. Yes, in everything we see His handiwork, and it tells us of his grandeur, power and glory and mercy and loving kindness unto all the children of men.

Another lesson taught by the earthquake's shock is that this world affords men no safe shelter, its possessions no permanent inheritance, and those that put their trust in them must perish with them.
Then comes the reflection which is vouchsafed in His word that there is to be a new Heaven—a kingdom which cannot be moved—in which there is an inheritance which is incorruptible and which will not fade away, and in which there is no mortality, but in which there is an inheritance which will dwell forever in righteousness, peace and safety, and where no rude and sudden shocks will ever make a single ripple break upon the placid bosom of that tranquil sea of sweet and blissful repose, so far removed above all earthly cares and woes.

He Died Poor.

Such is the judgement about one who recently died. And yet it was said of this man, who went about doing good in his humble way that he died poor, because he did not so accurately estimate the value of himself a bulk of property that would stand a fall and fleeing and evanescent moment to his energy and industry and the more of Adam's gold he had, the more to grow rich perhaps at the ruin and downfall of others who fell into the rapacious clutches of heartless avarice and became a prey to the wolf like fangs of the insatiate greed and hunger. Yes, according to the world's estimate and the way the rich are reckoned, he died poor. But he went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the
singer of Death was making ready to bear
his spirit across the flood that rolls between
Time and Eternity. No gloomy forebode-
lings and agonies and plagues of the soul
as the shadows of earthly life begin to drop
about him, for they are gloriously
dispersed and he is gloriously free. He
went with us, gentle reader, to his dearest
and witness the glory light of religious
comfort that gathered in a glow of precious
truth about his couch, gleaming in the singer of Death was

A FEMALE CRUSOE.

The recent earthquake and electrical disturbances at San Nicolas island, near Santa Barbara, Cal., has revived interest in the story of the old Indian woman who led a Crusoe life on the island for many years and who was finally removed to Santa Barbara only to die from the effects of unaccustomed civilization. The following sketch of this female Crusoe is from "Santa Barbara and Around There" by Edward Roberts:

On the smallest island was enacted the tragedy of the "Lost Woman of San Nicolas," which at Santa Barbara is a familiar tale. The story begins with the removal of a number of Indians from San Nicolas in 1836. Just as they were embarking one of the women discovered that her child had been left behind. Returning for it, she was abandoned by her companions, who were obliged by a coming storm to set sail for the mainland. It was intended to return so soon as the weather permitted, but years passed away and the woman in time was forgotten and left to her fate.

Twenty years later, a hunter named George Nidever of Santa Barbara, visited the island for otters. While there he determined to look for the woman. After careful search he found three huts made of whale-ribs and brush, and where they stood extended as plain, in the center of which Nidever saw the object of his journey. The woman's dress was made of skin and feathers, and her hair hung in long masses from her bare head. When covered, she was cutting blubber from a seal which she had killed, but on her visitor she received him with a manifestation of delight, and readily accompanied him to his boat. Nidever made for her to enter it, and on doing so, Nidever sailed for the north and brought his charge to Santa Barbara.

Her arrival there created great excitement and hundreds called at Nidever's house to see her. Although she had not have been more than fifty years, she was gray-haired and emaciated. Her expression was one of blank ignorance and her skin was dry and wrinkled. Her language, strange as it may be, considering the comparatively long time she had been lost, was unintelligible to all. Those who considered themselves masters of every Indian tongue could not understand a word that she said. Owing to this fact the location of her hermitage was never known. What became of the child she returned to the boat to find on that fatal day is a matter of pure conjecture. How long it lived and where it was buried were facts that could not be discovered. The woman appeared to have lost all human instincts, and to every question asked made no answer that could be understood. In three months after her rescue she died and was buried by the Mission fathers.