

THE COOLEST SPOT IN BOMBAY.

GREEN'S TIFFIN AND DINING ROOMS

APOLLO BUNDER.
OVERLOOKING THE HARBOUR.

SELECT, QUIET, COOL, AND COMFORTABLE.

BREAKFASTS, TIFFINS AND DINNERS.

Re. 1 and upwards.

W. B. GREEN & CO.,

Established nearly 25 years.

FOR COUGH AND COLD

ESPLAÑADE CAMPHOR BALSAM is unequalled: quickly relieves Ho and Croup, and allays Feverish Symptoms.—Re. 1.

YNO

GOLF KIT.

LOFTING IRONS.	LONG SPOONS.
BRASSY SPOONS.	MID SPOONS.
IRONS.	SHORT SPOONS.
MASHIES.

FROM THE WELL-KNOWN FIRM OF FORGAN & SONS.
PRICE LISTS POST FREE ON APPLICATION.

PHILLIPS & COMPANY, LD.,
WINE AND GENERAL IMPORT MERCHANTS AND AGENTS, BOMBAY, BYCULLA, & POONA.

VENETIAN MOSAIC MARBLE TILES AND MARBLE AGENCY.

GOSTLING & MORRIS,
ARCHITECTS,
HAVE been APPOINTED AGENTS for VENETIAN MOSAIC
MARBLE TILES. These Tiles measure 8" by 8", they are highly polished in many elegant designs. The Tiles. They are durable and cheaper than Minton Tiles, and easily installed in a Firm in Italy. Marble Quarries and Factories near Carrara are prepared to execute "orders for Slab and Solid Sawn, White and Coloured Pavement and Dado, Doorways, Balustrades, Columns, Consoles and Fountains.

Samples can be seen at the Offices: No. 1, HUNTER STREET, ROBINSON

WELL WORTH TRYING.
 OR Comfortable Fitting Shirts or Sleeping Suits from our well-known TWILL LINING!
 I direct to Messrs. ASQUITH, LORD, & WHITMORE, Sole Bombay Agents
 ELGIN MILLS, Camphore.
 The only measurements they require are as follows:—

FOR SHIRTS. (N.B.—These Shirts are made with turn Height.
Size of Chest. (The collars attached unless specially ordered otherwise. Size of waist.
PRICES—Shirts, 6 for Rs. 15. Sleeping Suit, Rs. 3-6 each, or 5 for Rs.
Please note these are V.P.P. prices, and include Carriage and Packing to any part of India
White or Striped will be sent on receipt of Post Card.

ASQUITH, SHIRTMAKERS, &c.,
LORD, & WHITMORE, BOMBAY.

TROPICAL FLANNELS.
UPERIOR! UNSHRINKABLE
 WHITE OR NEAT FANCY PATTERNS.
 HIRTS, COLLARS ATTACHED (Silk Bands.),
 Cash or V. P. P. 3 for Rs. 20
 EERING SUITS (with Girdle)

Cash or V. P. P. each " 13
MEASUREMENTS REQUIRED :—COLLAR, CHEST, HEIGHT.

BADHAM, PILE & Co., Ltd.,
BOMBAY.

PLACED WELL IN FRONT OF COMPETITION.

THE following PIANOFORTES, manufactured by thoroughly competent and reliable Ma for the CLIMATE of INDIA :—

REASONED MATERIALS, NEWEST CONSTRUCTION, STRONGLY AND SOLIDLY BUILT, ELEGANT EXTERIOR

We state without hesitation that these Pianos cannot but REFLECT CREDIT

OUR RECOMMENDATION AND, MORE IMPORTANTLY, give the MOST QUALIFIED SATISFACTION AND CONTENT BUYERS.

CHIEDMAYER and SOEHNE'S STANDARD ISER SQUARE PIANOFORTE.

Cash, Rs. 825. On the Hire Purchase System—for 12 months, Rs. 75 per month; for 24 months, Rs. 40 per month.

CHIEDMAYER and SOEHNE'S GRAND SYMPATHETIC UPRIGHT PIANOFORTE.

Cash, Rs. 780. On the Hire Purchase System—for 12 months, Rs. 72 per month; for 24 months, Rs. 40 per month.

ULIUS BLUTHNER'S ALIQUOT BOUDOIR GRAND PIANO-FORTE.
Cash, $1,500. On the Hire Purchase System—for 12 months, Rs. 141 per month; for 24 months, Rs. 75 per month.

ULIUS BLUTHNER'S PLAIN BOUDOIR GRAND PIANO-FORTE.
Cash, $1,415. On the Hire Purchase System—for 12 months, Rs. 131 per month; for 24 months, Rs. 71 per month.

ULIUS BLUTHNER'S GRAND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTE.

Cash Rs. 855. On the Hire Purchase System—for 12 months, Rs. 80 per month; for 24 months, Rs. 71 per month.

Price Lists and Particulars of Terms of Purchase of other Pianofortes sent Post Free.

MARCKS & CO., LD.,
BOMBAY AND POONA.

THE ISLE OF SKULLS.

On the lonely, wind-swept island of San Nicolas, eighty miles off the coast of Ventura County, where, as far back as the memory of man runs, hundreds of white skeletons have dotted the valleys and hillsides, local archaeologists are now busy gathering the relics of a strange, extinct race. The island is ten miles long and oval in shape, being four miles across at the widest part. Strange utensils of serpentine, sandstone, and steatite are found there among the human bones, and the island and its erstwhile inhabitants have a history so curious that it is difficult of comprehension. In 1835 the padres of Santa Barbara, learning that there were but sixteen of the strange Indian race then living there, determined to rescue them from the island. They went over in a sloop and succeeded, as they thought, in getting all on board. At the last moment an Indian woman returned for her child, and, one of the frequent storms of the channel islands springing up, the sloop was driven away without her. The sloop went on the rocks of Point Conception and all on board were lost. Sixteen years later Captain George Nidever and two men went from the coast on a sloop to hunt otter off San Nicolas. On landing, they were, like Crusoe, astonished to discover human footprints in the sand. They saw no one, however, and a storm compelled them to put to sea. It was two years thereafter that the adventurous captain, revolving in his mind the sight of the footprints in the uncanny island, determined to go and discover and bring over the lonely woman of whom he had vaguely heard. Men accompanied him, and at length they saw on the surf-beaten shore a woman with long, tawny hair, dressed in a queer garb of coloured bird-skins, and scraping with a bone knife the blubber from a seal. They surrounded and approached her stealthily, and, although suddenly confronted, she did not appear in the least afraid, but smiled, and then, falling on her knees, prayed to the sun. The wild woman offered no objection when by signs she was made to understand that she was to go with them in the boat. They reached Santa Barbara across the rough sea, and the first thing the Indian woman saw was Dr. S. L. Shaw, now eighty years old and yet living there, riding a horse. She had never seen nor heard of any object like it, and thought the man and horse were one, and she knelt on the shore and offered her devotions to it. Two weeks afterwards the last inhabitant of rock-ribbed, tempest-tossed San Nicolas died from eating food to which she was unaccustomed furnished by her rescuers, and the curtain fell on her race for ever. Wild dogs had eaten her child. Her dress of red and blue feathers, a wonderful creation of barbaric hands, was sent to the Pope of Rome. Relic hunters have gathered mortars, pestles, ollas, toy steatite canoes, and other curious things there for some years past, and shipped them to various Eastern and European universities. Skeletons and parts of skeletons have also been collected in large numbers, but to-day the bones of thousands of Indians are scattered about there. Some lie face down, indicating that they have fallen in battle. There are so many human relics there that San Nicolas is known as the Isle of Skulls. "The lonely island, whose highest part is but 1,040 feet above the sea," said a resident of Ventura recently, "is noted for the high artistic class of many of its relics. Had the woman rescued, then fifty-two years old, not died, a story passing strange would no doubt have been told of the race so long hemmed in by the waste of waters about. As it is, much of the story is shrouded in mystery for ever."—San Francisco Examiner.

THE ISLE OF SKULLS.

On the lonely, wind-swept island of San Nicolas, eighty miles off the coast of Ventura County, where, as far back as the memory of man runs, hundreds of white skeletons have dotted the valleys and hillsides, local archæologists are now busy gathering the relics of a strange, extinct race. The island is ten miles long and oval in shape, being four miles across at the widest part. Strange utensils of serpentine, sandstone, and steatite are found there among the human bones, and the island and its erstwhile inhabitants have a history so curious that it is difficult of comprehension. In 1835 the padres of Santa Barbara, learning that there were but sixteen of the strange Indian race then living there, determined to rescue them from the island. They went over in a sloop and succeeded, as they thought, in getting all on board. At the last moment an Indian woman returned for her child, and, one of the frequent storms of the channel islands springing up, the sloop was driven away without her. The sloop went on the rocks of Point Conception and all on board were lost. Sixteen years later Captain George Nidever and two men went from the coast on a sloop to hunt otter off San Nicolas. On landing, they were, like Crusoe, astonished to discover human footprints in the sand. They saw no one, however, and a storm compelled them to put to sea. It was two years thereafter that the adventurous captain, revolving in his mind the sight of the footprints in the uncanny island, determined to go and discover and bring over the lonely woman of whom he had vaguely heard. Men accompanied him, and at length they saw on the surf-beaten shore a woman with long, tawny hair, dressed in a queer garb of coloured bird-skins, and scraping with a bone knife the blubber from a seal. They surrounded and approached her stealthily.

hair, dressed in a queer garb of coloured bird-skins, and scraping with a bone knife the blubber from a seal. They surrounded and approached her stealthily, and, although suddenly confronted, she did not appear in the least afraid, but smiled, and then, falling on her knees, prayed to the sun. The wild woman offered no objection when by signs she was made to understand that she was to go with them in the boat. They reached Santa Barbara across the rough sea, and the first thing the Indian woman saw was Dr. S. L. Shaw, now eighty years old and yet living there, riding a horse. She had never seen nor heard of any object like it, and thought the man and horse were one, and she knelt on the shore and offered her devotions to it. Two weeks afterwards the last inhabitant of rock-ribbed, tempest-tossed San Nicolas died from eating food to which she was unaccustomed furnished by her rescuers, and the curtain fell on her race for ever. Wild dogs had eaten her child. Her dress of red and blue feathers, a wonderful creation of barbaric hands, was sent to the Pope of Rome. Relic hunters have gathered mortars, pestles, ollas, toy steatite canoes, and other curious things there for some years past, and shipped them to various Eastern and European universities. Skeletons and parts of skeletons have also been collected in large numbers, but to-day the bones of thousands of Indians are scattered about there. Some lie face down, indicating that they have fallen in battle. There are so many human relics there that San Nicolas is known as the Isle of Skulls. "The lonely island, whose highest part is but 1,040 feet above the sea," said a resident of Ventura recently, "is noted for the high artistic class of many of its relics. Had the woman rescued, then fifty-two years old, not died, a story passing strange would no doubt have been told of the race so long hemmed in by the waste of waters about. As it is, much of the story is shrouded in mystery for ever."—San Francisco Examiner.
