

BEHRING SEA.

Political Capital to be Made by Trouble With Uncle Sam.

It is said that the Government will prevent the Behring Sea from being used for the purpose of the fisheries.

London special, March 11.—The Past London special says: "The news from America is the absorbing topic of discussion so far as foreign news is concerned. It is estimated strongly that should the American Government attempt to establish relations against Canada, England will withdraw arbitration and most any case to raise in Behring Sea with a plain assertion of the rights of British subjects to hunt seals outside of the recognized limit of the United States jurisdiction. This position is urged by many Tories, and is said to be regarded with some favor, although as yet without the official approval of the Foreign Office. The Tories are despatching a letter that will arouse indignation and rally the country to the support of the Government."

THE PRESENT SITUATION.—Washington, March 11.—Gov. Foster of the State Department is assisting the President in the Behring Sea negotiations, had a long conference at the Navy Department yesterday with Secretary Tracy and Commodore Lannan. Chief of the Bureau of Navigation. The conference dealt with the position of the United States in the Behring Sea, the consideration of the course to be pursued by the United States in enforcing its claims in Behring Sea, and the possibility of securing a settlement of the controversy by arbitration. It is estimated that the United States will not be able to enforce its claims in Behring Sea, and that the United States will be forced to accept a settlement of the controversy by arbitration.

NO ACTION TAKEN.—Washington, March 11.—The Behring Sea matter was discussed at today's meeting of the Cabinet, but it is understood no action was taken.

A MINE HORROR.—Two hundred miners killed by an explosion in the Behring Sea.

The Ojai, usually quite accurate, repeats the note which appeared in the Press relative to the metamorphosis of the little animal which is eating the grain on the Hope Rancho. Dr. Yates published in those columns a full account of the little animal that was scientifically accurate. Bro. Masick didn't seem to "catch on."

At the Opera House last night, the Wilber company presented the highly sensational comedy drama Shadows of a Home. The dialogue of the play is extremely interesting and held the attention of the audience to the end of the last act. The comedy scenes are very catchy and pleased the larger audience imand pleased the large audience immensely. The costuming was appropriate and costly, and the piece gave the best of satisfaction. — Topeka Capital.

The Ojai says Joaquin Miller's novelette concerning the Woman of San Nicolas has started the coast papers to telling what they know (or don't know) of the matter. "The San Francisco Examiner and the Santa Barbara Press and Independent have all come out lately with versions, but the article by Dr. Lorenzo G. Yates of Santa Barbara, published in the Independent is, we believe, nearer the actual facts than the others. Since the publication of these articles the Ojai has become possessed of some facts about San Nicolas, which elucidate the manner in which the all-original inhabitants of this now waste island lived and died. San Nicolas will form the text for another article soon.

A gentleman of this city took a walk down on the beach yesterday afternoon. He went over and beyond Castle Rock. About two or three hundred yards ahead were a couple of men standing near the bluff and enjoying shooting at a target of stones placed near the tide. As the Barbaroño walked along he suddenly felt his hat move and a buzz at his ear. A small bullet also dropped at his feet. The cause of this was probably one of let also dropped at his feet. The cause of this was probably, one of the shots had glanced from the target and had just expended its energy as it reached and touched the man's hat. There is too much shooting indulged in hereabouts. Some severe or fatal accident will be reported next. The beach, populated as it is every day by pleasure seekers, is no place for shooting matches.
