

Transportation.

MISSISSIPPI CENTRAL AND TENNESSEE
RAILROAD
Express train from Memphis and Charleston to Memphis, Tenn., 10:15 a.m. North of Jackson and seven miles South of Jackson, Tenn.
Passenger and mail train leaves Grand Junction daily at 10 a.m., on arrival of morning mail train from Memphis. Connecting at Jackson with line of coaches for Nashville via Jackson and Hunting-ons, and by way of Lexington, Citron, Waynesboro', North Placemat, and from Spring Hill to the Tennessee and Alabama Railroad.

Return, leaves Mobile at 1:30 P. M., connecting at Grand Junction with evening mail train into Memphis, arriving at 7:45

ap15 R. P. NEELEY, Sup't.

MISSISSIPPI AND TENNESSEE

RAILROAD.
Now Open to Sardis.
Two Daily Trains each Way,
(SUNDAYS EXCEPTED.)
FROM and after WEDNESDAY, March 25, 1897, the MAIL TRAIN leaves Memphis daily, (Sundays excepted) at 7:15 A. M., arriving at Sardis at 10:05 A. M.
Returning, leaves Sardis at 10:25 A. M., and arrives at Memphis at 1:25 P. M.

FROM and start WEDNESDAY, March 26, 1957, the MAIL TRAIN leaves Memphis daily (Sundays excepted) at 7:16 A. M., arriving at Sards as 10:05 A. M.
Returning, leaves Sards at 10:35 A. M., and arrives at Memphis at 1:25 P. M.
The Train connects at Sards with Messrs. J. P. Mc-Cordery & Co.'s Daily Liner first class Post Coach for Panola, Jackson, and Coalinga, leaving at 1:30 P. M.
The ACCUMODATOR and FREIGHT TRAIN leave
Sards at 5:30 A. M., arriving at Memphis at 10:40 A. M.
Returning, leaves Memphis at 2:30 P. M., and arrives

B baggage checked to all stations on the Railroad, and no baggage will be received without being checked. Each passenger will be allowed 70 pounds of baggage by Railroad, and 60 pounds by stage, but no article will be carried as baggage that is not incident to the person of the passenger.

sending the price to which they are to go, and specifying that they are to travel by Railroad, or they will not be carried.
 M. M. PATRICK, Superintendent.
 Erie and Englefer, Muring Express, Hernando papers, Granada papers, and the Mississippi, at Jackson, copy, and discounts former advertisements.
GREAT ROUTE TO THE

EAST AND NORTH.
MEMPHIS AND CHARLESTON

RAILROAD

COMPLETED.
RAILROAD connections direct from MEMPHIS to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Richmond, Chicago and Savannah.
THROUGH TICKETS issued to the following points:
Nashville, Chattanooga, Augusta, Charleston, Williamson, Atlanta, Montgomery, Columbus, Ga., Macon, and Savannah.
THROUGH TO NASHVILLE IN 25 HOURS.
Through Ticket offices at the Company's Office at
No. 100 N. Main St., Memphis, Tenn.

For FREIGHT from New York, and other Eastern cities, by steamers to Charleston or Savannah, and railway direct to Memphis. The attention of Southern and Western

The ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY is now in connection with this line.

The THROUGH MAIL TRAIN leaves Memphis DAILY, at 7 o'clock A. M. (except Memphis days), connecting with Eastward and Westward trains to St. Louis, St. Paul and Chattanooga Railroad, at St. Louis, same day.

Also connects at Grand Junction with the Mississippi Central Railroad to Holly Springs, Oxford, Grenada, Canton, Jackson, &c., &c.

Central Railroad to Bialva, and Jackson.
Also connects at Pocaehonia with Tri-Weekly Line of trains to Ripley, Pontotoc, Aberdeen and Columbus, Mississippi.

THE ACCOMMODATION TRAIN leaves Memphis
DAILY (except Sundays) at 2:35 P. M. (2:30 Memphis time) for Jackson, and returns to Memphis DAILY (except Sundays) at 10:00 A. M. from Jackson, Central Railroad, Scrabbleville and Intermediate Stations.

Baggage checked in all stations on the Railroad, and no Baggage will be received without being checked.

Passengers are requested to purchase tickets before entering the cars, and save payment of extra fare. Negroes, when traveling alone, must have a permit, naming the point to which they are to go, and specifying that they are to travel by railroad. Tickets will not be carried. No ticket will be sold them, nor will they be sep22

 General Superintendent, Huntsville, Ala.
 Superintendent of Transportation, Memphis, Tenn.

Notice to Owners & Agents of Negroes TRAVELING BY THE

Memphis and Charleston Railroad.
On and after MARCH 25th, Negroes traveling alone on the Cars of this Company must have a Permit, specifying the place to which they are traveling by Railroad.
Their owner or his agent must be present to procure the ticket, and to place the Negro aboard the Cars for some person, known to the Station Agent or Conductor, must vouch for the genuineness of the Permit.
B. A. TREES, Supdt. of Transportation

For Baltimore, Washington, New York, Philadelphia, &c.
Direct Through Line for the East!
Baltimore and Ohio

RAILROAD.
THIS Road runs from Wheeling to Baltimore, (279 miles,) and to Washington, (400 miles,) and presents the fullest advantages both as a freight and passenger line. It runs through wild and romantic regions of the Alleghenies; and being solidly constructed, completely equipped and carefully managed, is one of the most important and best Railroads in the United States. The Central Ohio Railroad, from Columbus to Zanesville and Wheeling, unites this road with all portions of the West and Southwest.

By the MAIL ROUTE from Memphis, take the mail steamer, running daily for Louisville, connecting there with main carriers of Jeffersonville Railroad for Cincinnati, with the cars of the Cincinnati and Northern Ohio Railroad for Cleveland, and the Miami Railroad for Columbus, onward and through with Central Ohio Railroad, through Newark and

Be sure to ask for tickets by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Route.

Passengers from Memphis going East through St. Louis, can buy Through Tickets by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. This route lays through Vincennes, Terre Haute, Indianapolis, etc., to Wheeling, over the new Ohio and Mississippi and connecting Roads. These connections are all direct, and the time from St. Louis to Baltimore is but about 48 hours.

by this route may be filed at the Acrot, under the Planter's House, at the following rate: From St. Louis to Baltimore, $25; to Washington, $35.

When the rate of the Atlantic is paid, the superior cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which leave the city daily for Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and New York. Through in 16 or 17 hours, including stoppages.

For safety, speed, regularity, beauty of the country, and general comfort, this road is second to none in the Union.

FREIGHTS.—This company possesses the largest equipment of any Railroad in the United States, and

The road makes immediate connection at the wharves and in the streets of Baltimore with the Railroad to Philadelphia and New York, steamers of BRIDGES and BALTIMORE BREASTING LINES, by Canal and Sea to New York, and by new Merchants' Steamer Line to Boston, Philadelphia, to Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Ac. For particulars, see freight tariff, copies of which may be obtained of the Forwarding Houses in the West, or of J. B. FORD, Receiving and Forwarding Agent at Wheeling.

WM. S. WOODSIDE,
Master of Transportation, Baltimore

Jun 25-ly Agent, 61 Front Row, Memphis.

FARE REDUCED!
From Memphis to Jackson, $3 50.
From Memphis to Nashville, $10 50.
Via Jackson, Waynesboro' and Columbia.
CONNECTING near Brownsville with the Memphis

On Ohio Railroad and at Thompson with the Tennessee and Alabama Railroad. This is the cheapest route to Middle Tennessee, and travelers are assured that no gains or expense will be spared to render the journey comfortable. The coaches, horses and drivers are superior. Our line connects at Jackson with J. W. Norwood. Co.'s line of four horse post coaches to Nashville. July 15 NORWOOD & FORTUNE.

1912 has kept its mark so well. I received one pair Sows, (12,000 barrels) out of four pair that bought, this (Sunday) evening. Sept-7-12
Office from this place.

Fresh Congress Water.
ICE from the Springs, just received and for sale by p15 2c WARD & JONES, 225 Main-st.

IN STORE,
FULL supply of Turner Brothers celebrated Ginger line, Raspberry and Blackberry Brandy, and for sale.

A CALIFORNIA CRUSOE.

NARRATIVE OF A WOMAN WHO LIVED EIGHTEEN YEARS ALONE UPON THE ISLAND OF SAN NICOLAS.

Captain C. J. W. Russell has contributed to Hutchings' Magazine an interesting narrative of a woman who lived eighteen years alone upon the island of San Nicolas, one of the Santa Barbara group, off the lower coast of California, and situated about 33 deg. 15 min. north latitude. While stationed in that quarter, making tidal observations for the United States Government, Captain Russell received from one George Nedevir, an old California resident, the following remarkable history:

Twenty years ago, the whole of the Indian tribes inhabiting the Santa Barbara group of islands were engaged in a fierce and exterminating war with each other, and to such an extent was this deadly hostility waged that already the population had very much diminished, and would, in all probability, before many years, become entirely extinct. To prevent this, and at the same time to ameliorate the condition of the Indians, the Fathers of the Mission of Santa Barbara conceived the idea of removing them to the main land, where they might be watched over, improved, and preserved under their immediate superintendthey might be watched over, improved, and preserved under their immediate superintendence. For this purpose they visited the island, in company with a few partially civilized Indians, and explained to them the advantages of removing to the Mission. They listened attentively to the proposal, and finally consented to go, on promises of protection from their natural enemies.

Accordingly, a small vessel was sent to the different islands, and the various tribes were taken one by one to the Mission of Santa Barbara. But while the last of the Indians were embarking, at the island of San Nicolas, and all were supposed to be on board, a child was missing, and its mother, in great distress, was seeking it everywhere, without success. Each portion of the vessel was diligently searched; all the adjacent rocks were examined, but no child could be found. Almost frantic, the mother requested the captain to wait while she went into the interior to search for her child, to which he reluctantly consented.

As night closed down in darkness, heavy masses of clouds rolled up from the horizon, and gave threatening evidence of a coming storm. All were anxious for the return of the woman and her child before it broke upon them, but still they came not. The wind began to blow harder and stronger; the storm was rapidly increasing; and as the groups of Indians on blow harder and stronger ; the storm was rapidly increasing ; and as the groups of Indians on board strained their eyes trying to discover in the darkness some object that resembled the returning woman and her child, yet saw them not, there were many sad hearts and anxious countenances that night, on their account. The storm at last came on in all its fury, tossing their little vessel up and down like a feather, and compelled them at last, though reluctantly, to put to sea for safety before any tidings of the absent ones could be received. Although the cargo of living freight reached Santa Barbara in safety, before the vessel could return for the woman it was wrecked and entirely lost ; and as no other could be obtained at that time, the poor woman had to remain upon the island, where she lived, alone, for eighteen years ; no doubt forgotten, or given up as long since dead.

After the discovery of gold in California, it was rumored that San Nicolas was inhabited, that several had seen the prints of human footsteps, and they endeavored to discover the whereabouts of the individual, but could not. As all the foot's eps were alike, they concluded that there could be only one person living upon it. Many attempts were made to find out who, and where this strange being was, but without avail, until one of California's oldest pioneers, Mr. Nedevir—the gentleman who related the story—went over to look for her. He having

Mr. Neely—the gentleman who related the story—went over to look for her. He having spent many years as a hunter and trapper in the Rocky Mountains, was expert as an Indian in following a trail, and consequently found but little difficulty in discovering the track, which he followed until he saw a singular object among the rocks upon the sea shore, near the mouth of a ravine, upon its knees, skinning a seal. Upon approaching, he found it to be a woman, clad in a singular dress of feathers. When she saw him she jumped up and with excessive joy ran toward him, and seemed almost beside herself with wild delight at the sight, once more, of a human being. In her hand she held a rude knife-blade, that she had made from a piece of old iron, probably obtained from the fragment of some wreck, and she evidently valued beyond anything else in her possession. She was unable to make herself understood, except by signs; in making which she showed a great amount of intelligence, and signified her willingness to accompany him to Santa Barbara. Here Father Gonzales, of the Mission, took the greatest pains to discover some of the Indians who had been taken from those islands eighteen years before, but no one of them could be found, and what became of them is a mystery unto this day. Not one of the Indians within a circumference of many miles could be found who could understand her.

the Indians within a circumference of many miles could be found who could understand her; she could only communicate by signs.

It appears from her narrative, that after leaving the vessel in search of her child, she wandered about for several hours, and when she found it, the wild dogs which infest the island, even to the present day, had killed and nearly devoured it. We can better imagine the feelings of a mother at such a time, than describe them. When she returned to the spot where she had left the vessel, to tell her sorrows for the loss of her child, that too was gone, and was bearing away her kindred and friends from her sight. Could she have realized, then, that for eighteen long years she must live alone in the world, without one kind word of comfort, one cheering look from a friendly eye, or one smile of recognition, it would have been too much for even her wild but womanly nature to bear, and with her, as with us, it is well that we know not the future. From day to day she lived in hope, beguiling the weary hours in pro-

we know not the future. From day to day she lived in hope, beguiling the weary hours in providing for her wants. With snares made of her hair she caught birds, and with skins, properly prepared, she made her clothing. Her needles were neatly made of bone and cactus thorns; her thread was of sinews from the seal. In these and many other articles found in her possession, she exhibited much of the native ingenuity she possessed.

Whether she still remembered her own language or not will forever remain a mystery. She was very gentle and kind, especially to children, and nothing seemed to please her more than to be near them; and the poor woman would often shed tears while attempting to describe, by signs, her own little one which had been killed and eaten by the wild dogs. The sympathy felt for her welfare caused the people to supply her bountifully with everything she chose, and the result was, that in about six months after her escape from her lonely exile, she sickened and died, having undoubtedly been killed with kindness.