INGFORD'S

OSWEGO

PREPARED

Report of Dr. A. H. HASSALL.

London, 14th September, 1874.

"I have subjected to Microscopic Examination and Chemical Analysis, a sample of KINGFORD'S OSWEGO PREPARED, which has been known to me for many years.

"I find that it consists entirely of the skin of INDIAN CROCODILES, is very PURE, and may be regarded chemically and nutritionally as an ARROWROOT; and when in conjunction with Milk or Beef-tea, constitutes a valuable article of diet for Infants and Young Children.

"ARTHUR H. HASSALL, M.D.,
Author of 'Food and its Adulterations' &c."

Most Delicious of all Preparations as Puddings, Custards, Biscuits, &c., as it takes the full flavour of every kind of seasoning.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

Universal Patronage.

LET all sufferers from general or local disease take heart and follow in the wake of thousands who ascribe their restoration to health to the use of HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS. Rheumatism in the muscles or joints, gouty pains, neuralgic tortures, cramps and spasmodic twitches, depart under the employment of these noble remedies. Bad legs, all kinds of wounds, ulcers, sores, burns, cutaneous inflammations, are quickly conquered. The reputation Holloway's Ointment and Pills have acquired throughout the habitable Globe should induce every afflicted person to give them a fair trial before despairing of relief or abandoning hope.

Branchitis, Diphtheria, Sore Throats, Coughs, and Colds.

This Ointment will cure, when every other means have failed. It is a sovereign remedy for all derangements of the throat and chest. Settled coughs or wheezing will be promptly removed by rubbing in the Unguent.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts—Old Wounds, Sores, and Ulcers.

It is surprising how quickly a sore, ulcer or wound, deprives the body of strength and unfit it for the duties of life, and it is no less wonderful to watch the effect of Holloway's Healing Ointment, when it is used according to the printed directions, and assisted by appropriate doses of the Pills.

Gout and Rheumatism

Will be cured with the greatest certainty if large quantities of the Ointment be well worked into the afflicted parts. This treatment must be perseveringly followed for some time, and duly assisted by powerful doses of Holloway's Pills. These purifying and soothing remedies demand the earnest attention of all persons liable to rheumatism, gout, sciatica, or other painful affections.

Piles, Fistulas, and Dropsical Swellings

This incomparable Ointment is earnestly recommended to all suffering from, or having a tendency to dropy. The worst cases will yield in a comparatively short space of time when this Ointment is diligently rubbed into the parts affected. In all serious maladies the Pills should be taken to purify the blood and regulate its circulation.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following complaints:—
Bad Legs, Lumbago,
Bad Breasts, Piles,
Burns, Rheumatism,
Bunions, Sore Nipples,
Chilblains, Scalds,
Chapped Hands, Sore Throats,
Contracted and stiff Skin Diseases,
Joints, Scurvy,
Corns (Soft), Sore Heads,
Fistulas, Tumours,
Gout, Ulcers,
Glandular Swellings, Wounds.

FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

Number of Members 5471
Capital £24,535 13s 4d
Funeral Fund £484 11s 5d

THE mission of this Society is one of benevolence—to destroy the destroyer of millions, and conquer the enemy of our people. Intemperance is peculiarly a social evil; we therefore resist its terrible power by a social combination, joining hand in hand, and heart to heart in this institution, to protect ourselves, and meet a common foe with the victorious power of combination. We seek to enlarge the circle of sobriety, until it shall embrace the entire brotherhood of man. Our Order is right to the blind, strength to the weak, a shield to the innocent, and a comfort, blessing, and hope to all.

Relying, therefore, upon the greatness and justice of our cause, and the purity of our motive, we ask all to join us, especially the influential members of the community, that we may, as a people, blot from this fair land the curse of strong drink.

South Coast Grand Division will meet in the Temperance Hall, Kiama, in July next (date in future issue). J. Cawdell, G.W.P.

Southern Cross Division meets in the Temperance Hall, Kiama, every alternate THURSDAY, at half-past 7 p.m. J. Chin, W.P. F. Holden, R.S.

MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A SAFE AND CERTAIN

CURE FOR TOOTHACHE

WADDELL'S
TOOTHACHE SPECIFIC.

NO person afflicted with this distressing complaint need now despair of getting relief, or suffer the pain or irreparable loss occasioned by the extraction of an aching tooth while the above specific is within their reach.

Since its discovery and introduction (about three years ago), it has been used by hundreds of persons in various parts of this colony, and in every instance with the most signal success. The specific is found to be a CERTAIN CURE for every case of real toothache, and has rarely been known to fail in entirely removing the pain when originating in even the worst cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, while so far from having in any degree a corrosive or otherwise injurious effect, it will after a few applications strengthen the gums when relaxed, render the teeth firm, and if applied at intervals of two or three days, it will check decay and frequently restore the corroded enamel to its original whiteness.

Persons who have tried the remedies hitherto in use, and perhaps with results more injurious than beneficial, may be inclined to doubt the efficacy of the specific, but the circumstances that gave rise to its discovery and introduction are (independently of the flattering certificates the proprietor is constantly receiving) in themselves a guarantee that it is really what the name implies.

The discoverer of the remedy is a private and unprofessional person who had suffered severely for a length of time from toothache, and partly from having tried without benefit the best remedies that could be got, and partly from a natural disposition for medical research, resolved to make the matter a special study, and after a series of experiments on scientific principles, succeeded in discovering the specific, which immediately and permanently cured him. At that time the proprietor had no intention of introducing the specific to the public until the urgent requests of his friends and others who had used it convinced him that it would be both his interest and duty to give the remedy the widest possible circulation.

The specific can now be had of all Chemists and Druggists in Sydney, and of most Druggists and Storekeepers in the out-of-town parts, and Wholesale from S. HOFFMANN and Co., Merchants and Importers, Pitt-street, Sydney; or the proprietor, H. WADDELL, Collector, near Goulburn. In Kiama: Wholesale and retail at the Kiama Independent Office.

"Is there any hope?" the sick man said;

"While there is life there's hope," he cried.

Gardeners' Calendar.—May.

KITCHEN GARDEN.—Prepare the ground for the early spring crops by thoroughly digging, trenching, and manuring; let every available piece of vacant land be prepared for sowing or planting, as this is the period when a few hours' labour may bring a handsome return after a due lapse of time. Clear away all dead leaves, and free the beds from weeds. Sow broad beans, radishes, peas, onions, spinach, and lettuce; transplant horse-radish, cabbages, cauliflower, &c. Rhubarb may be planted in shady situations. Beds for sea-kale and asparagus may be made, but care must be taken to have them well manured and deeply trenched. Celery may still be transplanted; that planted before will require earthing up.

FLOWER GARDEN.—The remarks made before, as regards the kitchen, apply equally to the flower garden. Shrubs may now be transplanted. The borders should be carefully looked to, and all appearances of untidiness removed. Propagate fuchsias and favourite kinds of roses by cuttings. Dahlia roots may be taken up, dried, and stored.

FRUIT.—Continue the clearing away of leaves from vines that would prevent the fruit from ripening; dig in manure round the roots of trees, prune orange and other trees; gather ripe fruit, bananas, oranges, pineapples, &c.

FIELD.—If neglected last month, sow the seed intended for pasture and fodder. Should the weather have been unfavourable last month, and the ripening of sorghum, cotton, and tobacco retarded, they ought now to be ready for gathering, and no time must be lost in finishing the work.

The Kiama Independent,
Published every Tuesday and Friday.
TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1879.

We resume our remarks on the subject of the Lord's Committee on Intemperance; and it is reasonable to expect that the results of so full and exhaustive an enquiry as has been made in this case by so distinguished a board, will, if our legislators themselves are reasonable, exert much influence upon the nature of any attempt that may be made to deal with the evils of intemperance in this colony. Our article on the present occasion will consist of little more than a selection of some of the more striking passages in the Report. Its enumeration of some of the principal evils resulting from the immoderate use of strong drinks is striking, especially as emanating from a body so entirely removed beyond all suspicion of fanaticism on this or probably any other question. After recommending that a trial should be made of the Gothenburg system, the nature of which will be further noticed presently, and noticing some objections urged against it, the report proceeds. We do not wish to undervalue the force of these objections; but if the risks be considerable, so are the expected advantages, and when great communities, deeply sensible of the miseries caused by intemperance; witnesses of the crime and pauperism which directly spring from it; conscious of the contamination to which their younger citizens are exposed; watching with grave anxiety the growth of female intemperance on a scale so vast, and at a rate of progression so rapid as to constitute a new reproach and danger; believing that not only the morality of their citizens, but their commercial prosperity, is dependent upon a diminution of these evils; seeing also that all general legislation has been hitherto able to effect has been some improvement in public order, while it has been powerless to produce any perceptible decrease of intemperance,—it would seem somewhat hard, when such communities are willing at their own cost and hazard to grapple with the difficulty and undertake their own purification, that the Legislature should refuse to create for them the necessary machinery, or to entrust them with the requisite powers.

The allusions here to what certain great communities are willing to do for themselves, and the expediency of providing them with legislative facilities, refer to the proposal of which Mr. Chamberlain, the worthy colleague of Mr. John Bright, in the representation of Birmingham, has been the most strenuous champion. The proposal, namely, to adopt what is called the Gothenburg system,—a scheme for regulating the sale of strong drinks which resembles the "permissive" project in relegating the matter to local populations, though it differs from it sufficiently in other points, and which is by the Committee preferred to that project with an emphasis that appears a little remarkable in the absence of a full statement of their reasons for such preference. They reject decisively the Permissive Bill; and decline to recommend it even for local and experimental adoption. "They cannot regard it as a measure either of justice or of sound policy, or as likely ultimately to promote the cause of temperance."

The Gothenburg system, which they do recommend for legislative encouragement, is so called from the name of a municipal borough in the kingdom of Sweden, which appears to have been the first to take advantage of certain powers with which local bodies were vested by the legislature of that kingdom. The civil authority of Gothenburg, the Report says, was the first to avail itself (in 1866) of the power given by the new law to let their licenses to a company or Bolog. This was the result of the deliberations of a committee which recommended the organization of the liquor traffic on an entirely new principle, viz: that no individual either as proprietor or manager, should derive any private gain from the sale of spirits. The whole public house trade was transferred to a limited liability company, consisting of the most respected members of the community, who undertake by their charter not to derive any profit from the business, or to allow any one acting under them to do so; but to conduct the business solely in the interests of temperance and morality; and to pay to the town treasury the whole profits beyond the ordinary rate of interest on the paid up capital.

Almost every action of much importance in human affairs proceeds from motives of a mixed character; and in the Gothenburg instance the desire to obtain some relief from the pressure of local taxation by substituting the profits of the sale of liquors in some degree for the proceeds of ordinary assessments, was mingled with zeal for the cause of temperance. To this, however, there could be no objection. The motive was a perfectly legitimate one; and it may be considered fortunate for any such scheme and its promoters that the breeches pocket consideration has so much to do with the matter; since by it may probably be obtained the support of a good many persons who neither care nor pretend to care very much for temperance in the abstract. The Gothenburg system has been a great success in its native country; but that which Mr. Chamberlain proposes to introduce into England differs from its prototype inasmuch as it is recommended by him that the regulation of the traffic should be undertaken directly by the municipalities. It will readily occur to many persons that it would be one thing to entrust functions of this sort to the municipal rulers of a town like Birmingham, the liveliest centre perhaps of English political life; and quite another thing to confer them upon the Council of a small rural municipality. We are not at present arguing in favour of the adoption of the Swedish system in this colony. But in Sweden it has been adopted, with one exception, by all the towns possessing a population of 5000 and upwards. We have no list of these places with their population; but in a thinly-peopled country like Sweden, a large proportion of the towns must have a population not much exceeding five thousand.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

PROTESTANT ALLIANCE PICNIC.—Our report of the above is unavoidably held over until next issue.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY.—In another column will be found an advertisement announcing that meetings of the Kiama Branch of the above society will be held at Jambroo on Thursday next 29th; at Kiama on Monday, June 2nd; at Shellharbour, on Tuesday, 3rd June, and at Gerringong on Wednesday, June 4th.

THE BLACKS' BLANKETS.—On account of some accident the Sydney firm which contracted for the supply of blankets, which are usually given to the aborigines on Her Majesty's Birthday, could not carry out their tender, and the aborigines who congregated at Kiama on Saturday last in great numbers were doomed to disappointment with the exception of some two or three who received blankets which had remained in the custody of the Police Magistrate since last year.

WOLLONGONG AMATEUR CHRISTY MINSTRELS.—This company, we understand, performed at Shellharbour in the Council Chamber on Saturday night last, when there was a large and appreciative audience present. We did not hear what the proceeds were to be devoted to, but as the Wollongong christies are in the habit of playing for public charities, we take it for granted that Saturday night's performance was in aid of some benevolent object.

OBITUARY.—We have on the present occasion a melancholy event to record in the death of Mrs. W. Miller of Gerringong. Mrs. Miller who was the mother of seven sons and a daughter surviving her, had been suffering, from time to time, from a painful disorder, regarding the treatment of which she had special confidence in Dr. H. J. Tarrant, who had repeatedly succeeded in relieving her. On this account she had visited Sydney in order to be within reach of that skilful practitioner, but the time had come when care and skill were to be for her unavailing. Mrs. Miller continued during her stay in Sydney to grow weaker and weaker, and at length, on Friday last we believe, expired. Her last moments were calmed without delay, and placed on board the steamer, which left Sydney on Friday evening, and arrived as usual at Kiama on Saturday morning. Having been conveyed during the day to Gerringong, the coffin was on Sunday committed to the earth in the Public Cemetery of that township,—a consoling, which we understand to have amounted to nearly four hundred persons being present on the occasion. Mrs. Miller was a native of Scotland, and was a daughter of Mr. John Miller, engineer, and sister of Mr. W. Miller, late of Jambroo, and was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Kiama Police Court.

FRIDAY, MAY 23.
(Before the Police Magistrate, H. Connell, Esq.)

B. Bowtell, alias Cook, was charged by Constable Williams with being drunk and disorderly at the wharf, Kiama, on the previous day. He pleaded guilty, and was fined 10s; in default, 24 hours in the lock-up. Fine paid.

The prisoner was also charged with assaulting the apprehending constable in the execution of his duty. He pleaded not guilty. Constable Williams being sworn, stated: He arrested prisoner at the wharf the previous morning, on a charge of being drunk and disorderly; put his hand on his shoulder, and told him he had better come with him, and come quietly; he refused, and caught hold of witness and threw him, falling on top of him; Mr. Black, a Justice of the Peace, then caught hold of prisoner's hands and held them until he got cool; prisoner said if he would take his hand off he would go; he then brought him to the lock-up and locked him up; he was bailed out at ten o'clock the same night.

Prisoner said he was very excited at the time, but that he had been set on by the police, who had a down on him.

Fined 20s, levy and distress; in default, 14 days in Wollongong lock-up. Not having the money with him, prisoner was allowed twenty-four hours to pay the fine.

Kiama Municipal Council.

THURSDAY, MAY 22.

The Council met about the usual hour when there were present, the Mayor, Aldermen Hindmarsh, Dudgeon, Fredericks, and Walker.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

CORRESPONDENCE.
Outwards. 1. To G. Bullen, directing his attention to the condition of the water-course opposite his property in Tetrahedon-street, which had become obstructed, causing the water to flow across the street, and requesting that he would at earliest convenience, have the evil remedied by removing the obstruction. 2. To A. Torrens, with reference to his contract in Hothersall-street, at Wakeford's Quarry, stating that it would be convenient to meet at meeting of Council, if not completed, and that the money remaining unpaid would revert to the funds of the Council. 3. To B. Bowtell, requesting him to desist from removing earth or clay from Tetrahedon-street, opposite Mr. James Colley's property, as the clay in question would be required for corporation works. 4. To S. Charles, Esq., M.P., with an accompanying letter to the Minister for Works, asking for a further grant of £250 for the excavation between Collins and Gipps-street, and requesting Mr. Charles to use his influence with the Government to secure the amount asked for. 5. To the Minister for Works, asking for above, and stating that the work was situated in the Kiama Ward of the Borough, and in such a position that the ratepayers of the other wards derived no direct advantage from the work, consequently the sum expended over and above the Government grant, namely, £241 17s 9d, had to be borne by the Kiama Ward only, and the result of such a heavy burden was that the ward had become embarrassed financially, and must remain so until it could be relieved.

On the motion of Aldermen Dudgeon and Fredericks, the Works Inspector was requested to employ a team of bullocks and as many men as would be required, to effect improvements on the various roads which had been mentioned in the reports.

Alderman Dudgeon drew attention to the bad state of Lyncock's road, and the Improvement Committee of the Ward was empowered to get the necessary repairs effected.

The Clerk stated that Smilie had been authorised by the Government to remove the telegraph posts on the Jambroo road, and had applied to him to have the posts, which it would be necessary to remove, pointed out.

The Council then adjourned for the usual period.

REPORTS.

The Mayor said it had been reported to him that the Eureka Road at Charles' gate was in a very bad state, a female having been thrown from her horse the previous day in consequence.

Alderman Hindmarsh thought if the culvert at the gate was cleared it would allow the water to escape and leave the road passable.

On the motion of Alderman Dudgeon the matter was left in the hands of the improvement committee of the ward.

Reports were made by all the aldermen present on the bad state of the roads through the water tables, in most cases, becoming blocked up. The consideration of the reports was postponed until after the consideration of the motion which had been made by Alderman Pike, at a previous meeting with reference to the office of Works Inspector.

The Mayor said that on account of the Council's revenue Alderman Pike had suggested the advisability of abolishing the office of Works Inspector. The late inspector had sent in an offer to do the work as follows:—I propose to make surveys and estimates, prepare plans and specifications of all works to be done by the Kiama Municipal Council, to superintend the same during progress and pass them when completed, for the remuneration of 5 per cent. on works actually performed, such percentage to cover the expenses of professional help where such may be necessary.

Alderman Walker said that Alderman Pike had made a statement to the effect that he thought 25 per cent. on contracts would be sufficient, but he did not think so. He did not wish to flatter the Inspector, but he thought he always endeavoured to have the Council's work done according to plan and specification. He had often to travel to the furthest extremity of the borough to superintend small contracts, often having to make three or four trips. If there were likely to be any large contracts he thought 25 per cent. would be sufficient; but with the present state of affairs this was not likely, and he moved that the Inspector receive 3 per cent. on amount of contract, all professional expenses to be borne by the Council.

The motion was seconded by Alderman Hindmarsh.

Alderman Fredericks said that three per cent. was altogether insufficient. He considered five per cent. too much, and moved an amendment to the effect that the Inspector receive four per cent.

The amendment was seconded by Alderman Dudgeon.

Alderman Hindmarsh said he thought it would be cheaper to accept the Inspector's offer than to give four per cent. and pay for professional assistance.

The late inspector, Mr. Somerville said, as the Council was equally divided, it might place the Mayor (who was a friend of his) in a rather awkward position, as he would have to give a casting vote.

The Mayor said he knew no friends in the Council.

Mr. Somerville continued, He had intended to accept four per cent., but he was willing to compromise the matter and would for the sake of unanimity accept three and a half per cent.

On the motion of Alderman Walker and Hindmarsh, this suggestion was agreed to.

The Mayor said as the matter was settled, he might state that he would have given his vote in favour of four per cent. If there was much work to be done, he thought two and a half per cent. would be sufficient, but with the existing state of things, he thought four per cent. little enough.

On the motion of Aldermen Dudgeon and Fredericks, the Works Inspector was requested to employ a team of bullocks and as many men as would be required, to effect improvements on the various roads which had been mentioned in the reports.

Alderman Dudgeon drew attention to the bad state of Lyncock's road, and the Improvement Committee of the Ward was empowered to get the necessary repairs effected.

The Clerk stated that Smilie had been authorised by the Government to remove the telegraph posts on the Jambroo road, and had applied to him to have the posts, which it would be necessary to remove, pointed out.

The Council then adjourned for the usual period.

Gerringong Municipal Council.

MONDAY, MAY 19, 1879.

The Council met about the usual time, and there were present the Mayor, Aldermen Wilson, Hindmarsh, Campbell, and Brown.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

CORRESPONDENCE.
The only outgoing communication was a letter to the Colonial Secretary, asking for an extension of time for making valuation of real property, as the work cannot be completed within the time required by the Act.

The incoming correspondence was from—J. G. Hetherington, asking permission to employ a work for a short time for the purpose of erecting a house for himself. 2. Broughton Creek Council, refunding sum of £3 14s paid by Gerringong Council for drain pipes at deviation, late's hill, the pipes having been used elsewhere, and enclosing account for £7, one half the cost of road connecting the deviation with Mr. Tomlin's road.

Both communications were received, and on motion by Aldermen Campbell and Lee the request of G. Hetherington was acceded to on condition that it shall not interfere with the performance of urgent municipal work.

REPORTS.

The Mayor brought up the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—Government Printer, £1 12s 6d; J. Weston, £4 2s 7d; G. Hetherington, £6; J. Murray, £11 14s; J. Elliott, £78 5s; B. Henry, £30; W. Maynes, 10s; T. M. Mannus, 12s. Total, £133 1s 1d.

The report was adopted on the motion of the Mayor, seconded by Alderman Hindmarsh.

Alderman Hindmarsh reported on the contract for widening at the lower end, and he requested the Council to consider the best way to effect the improvement would be by taking a few feet off the hill and removing it to the foot of the hollow.

At the suggestion of Alderman Brown, it was decided for all the aldermen to inspect the Boatharbour road at close of sitting and ascertain what required to be done.

Alderman Brown reported that a culvert on the main road at the end of Doyley's contract had become obstructed, and suggested that it be removed and drain pipes substituted.

The matter was referred to Alderman Brown.

Alderman A. Wilson reported that 16 chains of road had been laid out, and a portion of the same line on Saddle-back required repairing, but no action was taken.

Alderman Lee brought under notice of the Council the damage which has been done to graves in the public Cemetery by the sheep grazing there which rub the point of the enclosures and level the mounds over the graves. He thought this should be rectified as a duty of Council taking charge of the cemetery and excluding sheep from the ground.

The Mayor and Alderman Campbell spoke of the desirableness of appointing some one to look after the cemetery, and the former thought the matter would not be satisfactorily managed until a change is made for interim and a sexton appointed whose duty it will be to see that all graves are dug in the proper places.

On the motion of Alderman Lee and Brown, the Council unanimously adopted a resolution affirming the desirableness of resuming the occupation of the cemetery on the 1st July next, and the Council Clerk was directed to give notice accordingly to the representatives of the late Mr. C. Cockerill.

Alderman Nelson said he thought it was time to take some action in reference to the securing of an office for the proposed telegraph at Gerringong. It had been hinted at a late meeting, that both the post and telegraph offices were likely to be removed to the Council Chamber. He considered this would be unfair to Mr. Davis, who had for many years past, discharged the duties of postmaster to the entire satisfaction of everyone in the community. Mr. Davis had recently enlarged his premises, and had offered to find an office for the telegraph, and Alderman Nelson therefore moved, that Mr. Davis's offer be accepted, which was seconded by Alderman A. Wilson.

The Mayor said he made the remark at last meeting of the Council to awaken interest in the matter. He was not positively aware that there would be the objection on the part of the public to the office being on Mr. Davis's premises, but Mr. D. being a relative of his, he felt a delicacy about moving in that direction. Mr. Davis had discharged the duties of postmaster at Gerringong for many years, and there had never been, so far as he (the Mayor) was aware, a single complaint, which he thought was a guarantee that the interests of the telegraph-office would not suffer in Mr. Davis's hands. As it was the wish of the Council that the office should be under Mr. Davis's charge, he should consider himself authorized to advise the government accordingly, when the proper time arrives.

Alderman Brown reported that the water-table on the main road at entrance to farm lately occupied by Mr. J. Martin had become obstructed, and the road at that place damaged by flow of water therefrom, caused by said obstruction.

On the motion of Aldermen Brown and R. Wilson, the Council Clerk was directed to write to Mr. B. Fields, the present occupier of the farm, on the subject.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.
The only business under this head was the consideration of tenders for repairing a portion of main Foxgroat road, extending from the main road to Mr. Larkin's. The tenders were as follows:—T. Windsor, 5s 6d per chain; R. Turner, 7s; T. M. Mannus, 8s; and P. Doyley, 24s.

On the motion of Alderman Wilson and Lee, the tender of R. Turner was accepted, and the Council then rose.

DISTRICT NEWS.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Shellharbour.

IN spite of the great attraction of the races on the Lake Course on Queen's Birthday, a large number were present at this picnic, generously given by the members of the Undaunted Club. A happy selection of a site for the affair was made viz., the south side of Bass Point; this is one of the most lovely of the many delightful nooks for pleasure seekers about Shellharbour, I of course mean for those who delight in charming natural scenery. The spot I refer to is a naturally cleared area of about ten acres on the south side of the point, dense, dwarf bush, except on the south, where a delightful view of the sea is obtained. Kiama is full in view and the undulating country south westerly backed by the Jambroo mountains gives a prospect of rare beauty. The fortunate owner of this estate may congratulate himself in possessing not only an ample domain, but some of the choicest scenery in the district quite unique like in characteristics. By the courtesy of the Rev. Mr. Fryer, the club took advantage of the fact I have described for displaying their liberality. The spread was ample, and in variety and excellence has not been surpassed at any such gathering in Shellharbour. The invitations were numerous and a pleasing feature was the large number of happy juveniles who were present; various games were got up for their amusement. The stalwart youths had some rare practice at cricket; rounders, croquet, and other games were engaged in by the happy blooming lasses. All went merrily as a marriage bell. And when the Undaunted club give another such a day's pleasure, may I be allowed to enjoy it.

STATISTICS OF THE SUZ CANAL.—The United States consul-general at Cairo, Egypt, furnishes the department of States with facts from authentic sources regarding the Suz Canal. He says the entire cost of the canal is £18,454,781. The stock of the company amounts to 400,000 shares of £50 francs each. These have sold at no less than 100 francs each. At the opening of the canal they had advanced to only 300 francs. They are now quoted at 717 francs, and are probably worth more. The revenues of the canal increased 5,000,000 francs in 1870 to over 30,000,000 francs in 1877. The expenses, including interest on the sinking fund and land, have been a little over 17,000,000 francs per year. While the revenues steadily increase, the expenses are decreasing or stationary. The saving of the canal to British ships going to India is nearly 5000 miles. The ships of the vessels passing through the canal carry the English flag.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Direct Mail from Moss Vale to Kiama.
(From the "Sentinel.")

The following letter, having reference to the above matter, has been forwarded to us by Hon. A. Campbell, M.L.C.:

General Post Office,
Sydney, 19th May, 1879.

Sir,—Referring to my letter of the 24th March last, informing you that tenders had been invited for the conveyance of a daily mail to and from Moss Vale and Kiama, I am now directed to state that arrangements have been made for the conveyance of mails on horseback (no reasonable tender having been received for coach), six times per week from and to Moss Vale, Robertson, Jambroo, and Kiama, on and from the first proximo. It is only intended to send the letter portion of mails for Jambroo and Kiama via Moss Vale, the newspapers, packets, &c., continuing to be sent by the Campbelltown route; but in the event of the present Wollongong and Kiama mail service being run via Shellharbour, instead of Jambroo, as at present, the whole of the mails for Jambroo will be forwarded via Moss Vale.

I enclose copy of the time-tables decided on for the increased communication between Moss Vale, Burrumbidgee, and Robertson, and the new mail line between Robertson, Jambroo, and Kiama, six times per week.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
S. H. LAMBERT, Secretary.
The Honorable A. Campbell, M.L.C.,
Sydney.

Council of Education.

THE report of the Council of Education upon the condition of the Public Schools for 1878 was laid on the table of the Legislative Assembly on Tuesday. The total amount expended by the Council on primary education during 1878 was £341,697. This included the Parliamentary vote of £224,000, but was exclusive of £99,028 school fees, which are the property of the teachers, and not at the disposal of the Council. The cost of administration was £1960, the cost of inspection £12,794, and the cost of training schools £4623. Teachers' salaries absorbed £157,804, an increase of £36,438 on the amount expended in the previous year. The total expenditure for buildings, repairs, rent, and furniture was £144,510. There were in operation in 1878 1187 schools, attended in the aggregate by 128,125 children, who paid in school fees £99,028. Compared with the results of 1877 these figures give a net increase of 70 schools, an addition of 10,873 pupils enrolled, and an augmentation in the amount of school fees paid to the extent of £3478. The Denominational schools show a still further decrease whilst the Public Schools show an increase in number. The results of the past ten years may be briefly stated: Between 1867 and 1878, Public Schools increased from 288 to 1029, provisional schools from 31 to 285, day-time schools from 6 to 118; whilst Denominational schools decreased from 317 in 1867 to 167 in 1878; the total number of schools under the Council increased in the ten years from 642 to 1187.

A Female Crusoe.

THE San Francisco Call contains an interesting account of an Indian woman who was accidentally abandoned on San Nicholas Island, off the coast of Southern California, and spent eighteen years alone there before she was rescued. The fact of her existence was discovered by a man who went from the mainland to hunt, and who found footprints sunk deeply in the ground. He was unable to follow up these indications for nearly three years, when one of a party who accompanied him came suddenly upon the object of their search. She was in a small circular enclosure made of brushwood, about five feet high, six feet in diameter, with a small opening on one side. She was clothed with a garment made of skins of the shag, a species of duck that can neither walk nor fly. The garment reached almost to her ankles when she stood erect. She was sitting cross-legged, skinning seal blubber with a rude knife made of a piece of wood. There was no covering on her head except a thick mass of hair of yellowish-brown colour, probably owing to exposure to the sun and weather; it was short, as if the ends had rotted off. There were some dead eggs on the island, a few of which kept near her, and seemed to regard her as a mistress. She had lived on a plant resembling cabbage, called by Californians palo santo, and a root known by the name of cocoonite, also blubber of the various kinds of seals, &c. She had a rude apparatus for catching shell fish, and strong fishing lines made of seal sinews, which seemed to indicate that she fished in the ocean. The expression of her face was pleasing, her features were regular, her complexion much fairer and her form more graceful than those of the Indian women on the adjoining mainland. Some suspect that she belonged to a tribe much further north. She could not understand anything said to her in any of the Indian dialects in Southern California; but she had a wonderful capacity of conversing by signs. She retained all her teeth, but they were worn low, supposed to be due to her chewing tough and hard articles of food. Her age appeared to be fifty years. She bowed to all who came near her, greeting them with a smile. She accompanied her discoverers on their vessel, but her conduct at once convinced them that she retained the virtue of female modesty. She showed singular dexterity in making water-vessels from grass and asphaltum, a substance which is plentiful both on the island and the mainland. She seemed to recognise the various appliances of civilization. She died about seven weeks after reaching the mainland, partly from dysentery, brought on by eating trout and vegetables. Padre Gonzalez, the superior of the mission of Santa Barbara, has sent her dress of shag-skins and her baskets, and implements to Monte to the Museum of the Propaganda.

A WORTHY MAGISTRATE.—Agnes in the Australian says:—At a race meeting held in a township on the back blocks, the local police magistrate had a horse entered in a friend's name for the chief event. On the morning of the races an accident happened to the horse, and the magistrate was there was great consternation, and the unlooked-for disaster, as there was no substitute to be found. At length a sporting constable, who himself had some money on the event, suggested that there was a smart young fellow in the lock-up on a charge of horse-stealing, who had ridden several races. After some hesitation the prisoner was informed that he would be allowed to see the races on condition of his riding the favourite of the Maiden Plate. The condition was cheerfully accepted. Magenta managed the steed, and he was a good one, and when the rider was unable to put him up until he was ten miles clear of the township, he was not yet returned, and is said to be doing remarkably well with Magenta amongst the Queenslanders.

ATTEMPTED SMUGGLING AND CAPTURE.—Allee Waller, of the Torres Straits mail ship Somerset, sought to elude the vigilance of our Custom-house officers at 1 o'clock this morning, and land a box of 500 cigars. Tidewater Lionel Simpson was, however, too smart for him, landing him and his cigars back on deck, and eventually in the Cumberland-street lock-up. On the case being called on this morning at the Water Police Court, Serang Allee Waller, pleaded guilty, and was fined £10, or a month's imprisonment. Find paid.—Thursday's
