Follett School Notes.

Only the Game Fish Swim up Stream.

We might compare the following poem to school life. It's easy to drift as the current flows. It's easy to move as the deep tide goes. But the answer comes when the breakers crash. When the goal ahead is endless night. Through a sunless day and a star less night. When the far call breaks on the sleepers dream. Only the game fish swim up stream.

The spirit wanes where it knows no goal. The soul turns soft down the easy road. There's fun enough in the thrill and thrush. But life in the main is an up hill job. And it's better so, where the suffer gains.

Leaves too much fat on a weakened frame. Where the far call breaks on the sleepers dream. Only the game fish swim up stream.

When the clouds break in and the soul turns blue. When fate holds fast and you can't break through. When trouble sweeps like a tidal wave. And hope's a ghost by an open grave. You have reached the test in a frame of mind. Where only the quitters fall behind. Where the far call breaks on the sleepers dream. Only the game fish swim up stream.—Author Unknown.

PARAGRAPHS.

Earl Roach is back into school again, after being out a short time on account of illness.

Vester Kerns has ordered his books checked in, and is quitting school. We are very sorry of this, and we will certainly miss his smiling face.

Charles Beeding quit school Monday before last, as he is going to California. His vacant desk is very noticeable.

James Neal was out of school last week and part of this, on account of sickness.

Ray Ruffin was absent Monday.

Gladya Gentry has been absent both days this week.

The quarterly examinations are on hand this week, and the way some of the scholars faces look is quite discouraging.

Johnnie Callahan was absent from school last Wednesday. She left to spend the Thanksgiving vacation with her aunt, who lives at Lamont, Oklahoma.

Oh, the Juniors had a history test Tuesday. It was easy????? Why they only had twelve questions. We really hope that they don't lose any good sleep worrying over it.

Albert Laubhan has been absent some this week. We hope he will be back real soon.

Some of the Juniors will sell pie at the Smith-Wilson sale. The proceeds goes to the school.

Pearl Burke was absent from school Monday.

Zelma—"I went riding the other day and came to the creek. I couldn't find a way to get my car over."

Ada—"What did you do?" Zelma—"I thought it over."

Laurence—"I gave a beggar a penny and he didn't even thank me."

Johnnie—"You can't get anything for a penny now-a-days."

LIPSCOMB IN BRIEF

Turned in by Our Regular Correspondent.

HERE AND THERE

About People You Know. Pithy Points—Paragraph—ed to Please You.

LIPSCOMB, TEXAS, NOV. 28.—E. A. Rabottom, an old time and highly respected citizen of this county passed away at his home in Higgins Saturday. Mr. Reubottom has been deaf for several months. Resides his family and other relatives Mr. Reubottom leaves a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Court convened at Lipscomb Monday morning and we had court all the week. It made things look right lively to see so many people in Lipscomb. The grand jury adjourned after returning two bills of indictment, so we are told.

The two Allen Brothers, attorneys of Southwest Texas were in attendance at court, defendants in the Thomas case. A change of venue was granted by Judge Ewing and the case will be tried at Canadian in January.

Mrs. Frank Elmore, of near Follett, was again lucky enough to gain a jury verdict in her favor in the K. C. Life Insurance Co. vs. Mrs. Elmore. This is the second time the jury has decided in her favor.

Quite a few of the children have been vaccinated for diptheria, some have been exposed while others are taking the precaution of being vaccinated before they are exposed.

Friday night in a game between Glazier and Lipscomb at Lipscomb, our boys won with the score at 21 to sixty. But the Glazier girls beat our girls by a good margin.

Jack Nagel, his wife and children, were down from Follett Sunday visiting with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hopper, southwest of town.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McKee, of Darrouset, were Lipscomb visitors Saturday night taking in the I. O. O. F. soup party and visiting among friends.

C. A. Skaggs and family, of the Busy Town of Follett were Lipscomb visitors Saturday evening enjoying the I. O. O. F. eats and visiting friends.

On Thursday, the 24th, the eight year old daughter of Albert Schneider died of diptheria at her home near Lipscomb.

Miss Minnity, the music teacher, of Follett, was in Lipscomb during Thanksgiving.

Miss Georgia Hurlbey is the new assistant post mistress at the post office now.

Bert Shutterly, his wife and daughter, Verna, spent Thanksgiving in Higgins.

Earl Douglas, J. W. Douglas and Jim Keffer are down on the river hunting.

Died. Let thy broken hearts be healed. Carrie Belle Manor the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Thomas Manor, died Monday morning, Nov. 21, age 3 weeks old. The darlings death was indeed a shock, when the parents awaken Monday morning they found the infant, daughter dead. A short brief funeral service was held at the home of Mrs. Manor's father, W. F. Huffadeller, at 3 p. m. Tuesday after which the remains were laid to rest at the Fairmont Cemetery.

Shot Thanksgiving.

Last Thursday being Thanksgiving the town of Follett was closed and the business men took to many different things on the outside for recreation, but it chanced to be Guy Winingham, A. B. Griffith, Carl Fleming and Doc Smith that desired to take their in hunting and so they boarded a car and left for the Ranch southeast of town. The car had been stopped but a few moments, Doc Smith was yet in the car Guy Winingham, A. B. Griffith and Carl Fleming having just stepped out and Carl was taking his gun out when in some way the trigger was snapped the load wounding Carl in the neck and five shot passing through Guy Winingham's hat. Carl laid where he fell until Dr. Newman arrived from Shattuck, Okla., and administered temporary aid until they reached the hospital after which he was properly put at ease and as the reports come in from day to day is greatly improving.

Brief Paragraphs That Will Interest You—Short and to the Point.

John W. Terry died Friday night, November 11th, at Dickens, and was buried at that place Saturday afternoon. Rev. Patterson of Spur, conducted the services at the residence. On the 24th day of October, while lurching after his cattle on his ranch about six miles east of Dickens, a large rattlesnake bit him. He was alone, so had to walk more than a mile before he could get any assistance. It seemed for a while that he could live, but he got better and was practically well, it was thought, when other complications set up which resulted in his death.—Spur Texas Spur.

The Ellis County News published at Shattuck, carried the announcement that a contract was signed last week between B. A. Humiston, and Fred Ribelin, whereby the latter became the owner of the News. Mr. Ribelin, has been employed in the News office the past two years, and is fully acquainted with the ups and downs of the newspaper game. Fred is four-square and a yard wide and we feel confident that the people of Shattuck, will give him the support that he deserves in the management of the News.—Ellis County Capital.

As a result over a students, quarrel over a foot ball game, a crowd of young fellows and lancers on came down to Goodwell from Guyman last week and, according to our exchange, did considerable damage to the state school property there. A formal and signed protest had been filed by the faculty of the Goodwell College and sent to the Good Roads Club and other citizens' organizations in Guyman, asking that the guilty ones be located and properly dealt with.—Stratford Star.

A grass fire in the railroad yards Monday afternoon, set fire to a pile of new, assorted crates along the "Y" and these in turn ignited a bank car which was parked alongside. Several cars were in the string, but owing to prompt work by bystanders in uncoupling and moving them, only one car was consumed. The fire truck was on hand with plenty of firemen, but the time and car had gained too much headway before the alarm was turned in to save them.—Pampa Weekly News.

ALONE FOR EIGHTEEN YEARS

Indian Woman, Abandoned on Desert Island, Finally Found by Party of Otter Hunters.

On San Nicolas island, which is uninhabited, a party of sea-otter hunters, landing to chance their luck, desired, to their amazement, the sight of a human foot on the sandy shore—imprints freshly made. They scattered to search. But, the wind shifting and commencing to blow hard, they had to regain their vessel before the maker of the marks could be found. It was undeniable, however, a human being lived on this lonely, wind-blown island of sand and tall kelpwood.

On returning to the mainland they reported the strange discovery, but nothing was done until a Roman Catholic priest was so moved by the news that he persuaded the captain of a small schooner to sail with him for San Nicolas. After two days' searching he discovered this lonely Crusoe—the first of a new kind. For he found beside a low hut of driftwood a woman more like a beast than a person.

She was clad in otter skins, and the feathered skirts of the sea-fowl, and her companion was an otter, which she had thought very young and tame.

The priest with difficulty got her story, for she had almost forgotten how to speak. Many years previous to the small tribe of Indians to which she belonged—inhabitors of San Nicolas from time past—had been driven by the government to the mainland. As they were being taken on board, her baby had fallen into the sea, and she had leaped after him, and in the ship had been given up as drowned. However, she reached the shore, however, to find the child was dead. In their loneliness she had lived there for 18 years.
