

EXTENSION OF POWER FOR WAR FINANCE CORPORATION IS SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

Harding Appeals to Congress to Relieve After-War Distresses

Executive Seeks Aid for Two Great Fundamental Activities, Namely Railroads and Agriculture—Offers Definite Recommendations for Both

Washington, July 26—President Harding this afternoon appealed to Congress to extend the powers of the War Finance Corporation to relieve the after-war distresses by two great fundamental activities. The railroads and agriculture.

The President, in a message to Congress, asked that the War Finance Corporation be given power to purchase railroad securities, which are the result of the funding of the railroad debt to the government.

The President pointed out that under the Transportation Act, the debt of the railroads to the government for additions and betterment might be funded, and declared that he believed that in order that the transportation system of the nation might be restored to normal as soon as possible that this funding operation should be hastened and that there should be early settlement of the claims which the railroads have against the government.

HARDING GOING TO MOUNTAINS

Presidential Party To Spend Week-end in New Hampshire

Washington, July 26—President and Mrs. Harding will spend next week in the White Mountains of New Hampshire as the guests of the Secretary of War and Mrs. John W. Weeks. It was learned at the White House today.

According to present plans the President and Mrs. Harding accompanied by Secretary and Mrs. Weeks and other guests, will leave Washington Friday of this week for the presidential yacht Mayflower for Plymouth, Mass., to attend the exercises commemorating the landing of the Pilgrims three hundred years ago.

The Mayflower is expected to arrive at Plymouth on the morning of August 1, and the President will make an address late that afternoon. Prior to the address, the President is expected to review a military, civic and industrial parade and attend an informal luncheon at the Plymouth Tavern. After the address he will be the guest at a dinner at the Pilgrim Hotel and in the evening he will witness the pageant depicting the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock.

Following the pageant the presidential party will board the Mayflower and proceed to a point north of Plymouth, not yet announced, where they will leave the vessel for this morning, August 2, and board an automobile for the journey to Secretary Weeks' lodge in the White Mountains. The lodge is situated several miles from the town of Lancaster, N. H., and is about 130 miles north of Boston.

It has not yet been decided as to whether the President will return to Washington by the Mayflower, automobile or train.

Bill Prohibits Monopolies by Agricultural Societies

Washington, July 26—A substitute bill for the house co-operative marketing bill for agricultural producers was passed yesterday by the senate judiciary committee.

The house bill provision, which it was contended might give price fixing powers to the secretary of agriculture, was stricken out and the substitute, introduced by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, approved by the entire committee.

British Acquire Rich Oil Sources Throughout Persia

London, July 26—The Anglo-Persian Oil Company, a British concern, which previously controlled the greater fields in southern Persia, has been granted a concession to exploit the oil interests in Persia, according to John Lawrence Caldwell, American minister to Persia, who is here today.

Caldwell said that in the future the British will control all the rich oil sources throughout Persia. American interests in Persia, he added, amount to practically nothing beyond a little carpet buying. Caldwell and his family will sail for New York on the New Amsterdam on Thursday.

PREDICT BITTER LEGAL STRUGGLE

Fight Promises To Rip Open Tangled Affairs of the Shipping Board

New York, July 26—A bitter legal struggle which promises to rip wide open the tangled affairs of the United States Shipping Board was in the making today with an imposing array of distinguished counsel on both sides.

The date the honors rest with the United States Mail Steamship Company, whose attorneys successfully blocked temporarily the attempt of the United States Shipping Board to seize nine great trans-Atlantic liners allocated to it and to turn them over to a rival firm, the United American (Harriman) Line.

The ships are legally back in possession of the Mail line today notwithstanding that deputy United States marshals are aboard some of them in the name of the government as represented by the shipping board.

The fight will reach a climax on Thursday when attorneys for the Mail line, headed by Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state and now law partner of ex-President Wilson, and Delancey Nicolai, will go into court to have made permanent the temporary order restraining the shipping board and the Harriman line from interfering with the ships.

Opposing them will be the shipping board's legal array, headed by Henry V. Taft, brother of the supreme court justice of the United States.

There promises to be much mudslinging on both sides. Charges that foreign influences are behind the dispute have been made by both sides, so obscuring the issue that it appears that it can only be clarified by the court itself.

Attorneys for the shipping board contend that the Mail line owes the government $10,000, and that for this reason the ships were seized. The Mail line contends that the government owes it $2,000,000 for reconditioning the ships, and that the action of the board in seizing the vessels is an "attempt to take the American flag from the North Atlantic."

Meanwhile the temporary victory rests with the Mail line. The liner America planned to sail today under the Mail flag.

JAPAN READY TO PARTICIPATE IN DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

In Accepting Invitation, Nippon Government Does Not Bind Itself To Discuss Anything Which It Wishes To Exclude From Scope of Conference—Hughes Eager To Draft Program.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, Copyright Geneva Times 1921

Washington, July 26—Japan is ready to accept America's invitation to participate in the disarmament conference. In accepting the invitation, Japan does not bind herself to discuss anything which she wishes to exclude from the scope of the conference, such as questions relating to Shanghai or Yap or other matters which Japan may consider to have been closed by the time the conference begins.

America has not specified what subjects will be discussed except in a general way disarmament and peace in the Far East.

These statements from officials of our government who are in touch with the negotiations describe the status of the interchanges between Japan and the United States thus far.

Our government originally asked all the powers informally if an invitation to a disarmament conference would be acceptable. That is, a diplomatic way of avoiding a direct turn down. The informal inquiries resulted in agreeable statements from all the powers and formal invitations were sent. Japan is just now replying formally that an invitation would be acceptable and a formal reply received. Naturally Japan wanted to know what would be discussed at the conference and America politely said that something would be decided when the invitations were accepted all around.

So when Japan accepts America's invitation the real discussion begins as to what shall be included or excluded. The "agenda" which is the diplomatic term for program will have to be discussed. It will be the aim of the United States to make this agenda as broad as possible so that every question which has a practical relationship to the future policy of the Far East may be brought before the conference.

It is to be noted that Japan's interest in China as granted her by the Versailles pact and previous treaties with China.

Dispatches from London and other capitals predict that Japan would raise the question of immigration and demand a declaration in favor of racial equality as she did at the Paris conference as regarded here as inspired by newspapers rather than by the Japanese government for official use. The Japanese government hasn't raised any such issue.

HEARINGS ON TAX REVISION OPENED AGAIN

House Committee Hears Witnesses Who Offer Protest

Particular Opposition Is Voiced Against Small War Taxes, Especially Stamp Taxes

Washington, July 26—The House Ways and Means Committee opened hearings on tax revision today amidst a storm of protest.

From the number of witnesses who asked that they might be given a hearing it appeared that there will be vigorous protest offered against every tax now in existence and every tax which is suggested.

Particular opposition was voiced today against the small war taxes, especially the stamp taxes.

Representatives of the bottling and confectionery interests were heard in appeals for removal of taxes on fruit juices, and milk beverages, and on ice cream and soda water. These taxes have been alluded to as the "nuisance" taxes. Their appeal is assured by many committee members.

The case of the sales tax was opened up before the committee by Representative Frear, Wisconsin, who is opposed to the tax and had brought opponents of the proposition forward to argue against it. Announcement was made that the sales tax was not under consideration by the committee at the present time.

Southern tobacco growers and manufacturers were represented, and a protest was made before the committee against increases in the taxes on cigars, cigarettes and other forms of tobacco manufactures.

The committee has taken as a framework for its legislation two pending bills. One, the Longworth bill, introduced some months ago, providing for reduction of the excess profits tax, reduction of the sur-tax on large incomes and increase of the tax on corporation incomes.

The other, the Green bill, which provides for simplification of administrative features of the income tax law, and gives the treasury department authority to make final settlements and adjustments of first importance as it will result in large payments immediately to the treasury.

The Green bill passed the House last session but was held up in the Senate.

London, July 26—The engagement is announced at Belgrade of Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia and Princess Sophie of Vendome, said a Central News dispatch from Belgrade today.

CIVIL SERVICE PREFERENCE TO LEAD OFF LIST

Amendment To Be Voted Upon To Head All Others

Customary To Arrange the Amendments Numerically in Order of Filing

(Special to the Times.)

Albany, July 26—Following a conference with members of the American Legion, Secretary of State John J. Lyons, has directed the state printer to place the constitutional amendment, giving preference in the civil service of the state to soldiers, sailors and marines, at the top of the list of amendments to be voted upon by the people at the next general election, November 8th, 1921. It has been the custom to arrange the several amendments numerically in the order of their filing. In the present instance Secretary Lyons believed that the amendment which so vitally affects so many veterans of the world war, would have a better chance of passage and would receive a more thorough discussion if it topped the list of the measures to be voted upon. Had departmental precedents been followed the veterans measure would have been far down the ballot.

Attorney General Newton, who was consulted regarding the matter, ruled that there was nothing in the law which prevented the Secretary of State as a matter of public policy arranging the amendments in the order which he deemed most fit. The amendment formerly occupied the leadoff position has been moved to the top of the question of Americanization and provides for an educational standard with which it will be necessary for the foreigner to comply.

This amendment will be No. 3 on the ballot. Adjutant General J. Lewis Kincaid, Charles G. Blakeslee, state head of the American Legion and Major Ramul Compton, First Deputy Secretary of State, represented the American Legion in the negotiations leading to the change.

The court offered to grant the Governor a "reasonable period" in which to submit to arrest, but warned the Governor's attorney that a sheriff would be "compelled by law" to serve the warrant.

He also decreed the report that the Governor might call out troops.

The Judge declared he did not believe that national guardsmen, if called out by the Governor would obey orders to obstruct the law, by protecting the chief executive from arrest.

Just as court was convened the Judge received a large bouquet of roses. "Someone has sent the court a bouquet," he said, "I hope that after they have heard what the court has to say they will want the bouquet to remain."

He began by repeating the "advice" given him at Friday's session of attorneys, headed by former Governor Joseph Pifer.

"A request from such a source cannot be ignored," he said, but immediately read abstracts of the law providing for the issuance and service of capias warrant following indictment.

"You advised the court and on his own motion to issue a restraining order against service of the capias until the termination of the term of the Governor, and to suspend prosecution. You contend that the Governor is immune from arrest."

"You repeat that ancient maxim, 'The King can do no wrong.'"

But in this Republic, that ancient maxim has not reached the state that an elected official can do no wrong. Our governors are not born kings. In the state of Illinois we have no such thing as the divine right of kings. The Governor may be prosecuted in or out of office. The impeachment is not a criminal proceeding. It is a purely a process of removal from office," the court declared.

Judge Smith literally denounced the report that Governor Small would call out troops.

"It is suggested that the Governor as commander of the State military forces would call out troops to prevent service of capias and issued by this court."

"This does not impress the court. This Court believes the Governor will obey the law and the constitution specifically provides that the State troops shall be called out only to suppress insurrection and uphold the law."

Supreme Council Meeting Is Called for August 4th

London, July 26—The inter-Allied supreme council will meet in Paris August 4 to take up the Upper Silesia issue. It was officially announced at 10 Downing Street today. It is possible that Premier Lloyd George will be absent.

The decision to summon the supreme council on August 4 represents a victory for Great Britain and a concession by France. Great Britain has been urging an immediate meeting of the inter-Allied body and, while the meeting will not be held for more than a week, it is a defeat for France. Briand who had openly declared at Paris that France could not consent to a meeting of the supreme council until the end of August so that the experts could draw up the Silesian frontiers in the meantime.

George Harvey the American ambassador will attend the meeting as representative of the United States. While the meeting is primarily called for the discussion of Upper Silesia, it is possible that the question of mandates may be taken up later in the session despite the proposed international conference of President Harding which will discuss Pacific mandates.

British experts will arrive in Paris tomorrow for a preliminary meeting on Upper Silesia.

3 Cent Mail May Return as a Revenue Producer

Washington, July 26—Plans for building a new tax law took more definite form yesterday as preparations were completed for the actual beginning today of revision of the revenue laws by the house ways and means committee.

President Harding heard details of what the house leaders propose to do from Chairman Fordney of the committee during the day, and information leaked out indicating that the 3-cent postage stamp might be resorted to as a revenue producer.

The return of the 3-cent stamp was understood to have been discussed at the conference Saturday between Secretary Mellon and Mr. Fordney and other Republican members of the ways and means committee. The suggestion will be taken up with the postoffice department before any further moves are made, however.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR ORDERED ARRESTED

Executive Denied Immunity From State Criminal Code by Circuit Court

Warrants Charging Len Small With Confidence Game, Embezzlement and Conspiracy To Defraud, Involving $2,500,000, Issued—Judge Smith Hands Down Decision.

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—Governor Len Small of Illinois today was ordered arrested on charges involving misuse of state interest funds.

His arrest was ordered by Circuit Court Judge E. F. Smith in a decision denying the right of a Governor to immunity from the State Criminal code. Warrants charging the Governor with a confidence game, embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud involving $2,500,000 were in the hands of Circuit Court Clerk, Charles L. Koehn, when Judge Smith had handed down his informal decision.

They were to be given to Sheriff Harry M. Lester for immediate service.

The court offered to grant the Governor a "reasonable period" in which to submit to arrest, but warned the Governor's attorney that a sheriff would be "compelled by law" to serve the warrant.

He also decreed the report that the Governor might call out troops.

The Judge declared he did not believe that national guardsmen, if called out by the Governor would obey orders to obstruct the law, by protecting the chief executive from arrest.

Just as court was convened the Judge received a large bouquet of roses. "Someone has sent the court a bouquet," he said, "I hope that after they have heard what the court has to say they will want the bouquet to remain."

Oil Companies in Mexico Will Resume Operations

Mexico City, July 26—The oil companies in the Tampico fields that suspended operation in protest against the increased export tax on oil have officially notified the ministry of interior that they will resume operations on August 1. It was stated by officials of the ministry interior today. The workers were discharged and are now being recalled.

The ministry of finance announces that the financial condition of the government is excellent.

The fire in the Anatolian fields south of Tampico which killed 100 persons and destroyed a large oil derrick has been extinguished. An Indian fire fighter distinguished himself by rushing through the blaze behind an asbestos shield shutting off the valve of a well that was pouring oil upon the flames. He will receive a reward of $100,000.

FAMINE AND CHOLERA DEPOPULATING RUSSIA

All Government Projects Except Those for Relief of the People Ordered Stopped—Trotzky Appointed Dictator With Full Powers

London, July 26—The Pan-Russian central executive committee of Communists has appointed Leon Trotzky dictator with the fullest powers to fight the famine in Russia, said a Central News dispatch from Moscow today.

Riga, July 26—Famine and cholera are depopulating Soviet Russia and all government projects except those for the relief of the people have been ordered stopped.

The Soviet at Moscow is planning to evacuate all the children from the Volga region, according to information received here today.

It is a difficult problem, however and warning has already been given by a writer in the official Soviet press that the transportation of the children may mean certain death because of the scarcity of food, pollution of water and the absence of clothing and shoes.

The supplies brought into Russia by the American Society of Friends (Quakers) have been exhausted. The Quakers have been invited by the Soviet, however, to extend their work.

All offers of help for Russian children from abroad will be accepted, Lenin declared, at Moscow. The plight of the Russian children is terrible. The death rate of children is much higher than that of adults. Already children are started showing the evil effect of the 1922 famine.

Newspapers just received here from Moscow report the first donation by the central committee relief fund. Rice, dried fruits, cocoa, bread and sugar were sent from Saratov. The Bransky regiment contributed a month's pay. The Red militia is giving bread from its meager rations.

An exodus of farmers has begun from the Volga region and the Soviet government is attempting to pay the starving peasants away from central Europe.

A Communist call has been issued for all members of the party to unite in fighting the famine and disease. All are asked to contribute something. The nation's resources will be mobilized.

The Soviet believes that it is important to control immigration as one means of fighting absolute starvation. A produce tax is being put into effect. Public proclamations lay stress upon the declaration that failure to pay the produce tax will bring about collapse of the government. The tax must be paid before August 15.

In order to insure a crop next year the government is attempting to prevent the farmers from leaving the rich grain belt of the Volga. It is feared that if an unrestricted wave of immigration sets in it will spread panic throughout the entire country. The Volga is the greatest grain raising part of the country and if it is depopulated Russia will be without hope next year.

The Treasure in the Chest

By FREDERICK CLARKE

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

"It's the law or poverty—take your choice," was the stern dictum of obstinate, self-opinionated James Rosa, uncle of Philip Carle, who stood before him.

"I am sorry, uncle, but it's not the law for me," came the clear, definite response. "I'm not cut out for it, the business is distasteful to me, and I would rather have a crust of bread and my artistic ambitions, than the solemn judicial sense and a fortune."

"So much the poorer you, so much the richer I," quoted the old money-grubber. "You need bank on no dependence on me hereafter. Wait."

And the speaker snapped open a drawer in his desk and took from it a small package. "That belonged to your father. It is legally mine, but I give it to you as a memento or to waste, as you like. I wash my hands of you."

Philip Carle made his exit feeling that he had made a pretty bad mess of his affairs. He uddid the wrappings of the little parcel. It contained a diamond ring, probably a remnant of the wealth he knew his dead father had once possessed.

"I will never sell it," he said, walking on thoughtfully, "but"—and he stopped at the first pawnbroker's shop he came to.

"I will loan you three hundred dollars," its proprietor said.

Philip took the money and turned into a small tailoring shop.

"Well, how is business, Mr. Garland?" inquired Philip of an old man.

"Getting worse, if possible, all the time," was the reply. "I am afraid my venture is a poor one. Why does not my brother come on?"

"There is the money to relieve your present necessities," said Philip, handing over the proceeds of the loan.

The old man stared; quick tears arose to his eyes. He waved back the generous hand extended, but Philip persuaded him with success.

He induced his friend to make one more trial of his business experiment, and left him with encouraging words.

"I had to do it," Philip told himself. "I can't see Mr. Garland lose his all, if it is only for her sake—dear Isabel! How he has struggled to give her a musical education. So near to acquiring it, too. I won't regret a good act."

Isabel was perfecting a musical education and Garland never let her know how hard he was pressed. For over a month he had been in an optimistic mood. He had received a letter from a brother, a sea captain who had been off on a two years' cruise.

It came from a distant city and on its heels a large seaman's chest. The letter announced that very soon its writer would follow, and that he had come to share a royal fortune with his brother.

But since then not a word had been received from the sea captain.

One week later Philip visited the Garland place to find the old man immersed in the deepest gloom. He had received a telegram announcing the death of his brother in a hospital.

The last words he spoke were transmitted: "Tell my brother that the chest and its treasure is all his own."

Is "treasure," according to Garland, consisted of some sailor clothes, a few nautical instruments and a keg containing some oily compound of the deep.

"It's the end," said the old man dejectedly. "My main worry is that your generous loan is lost. They threaten to sell me out tomorrow."

"It will be easy to arrange for your care until you get on your feet again, Mr. Garland," said Philip cheerfully.

"What are we going to do with the chest, though? Let us open it and select what is worth while."

"What about this?" inquired Philip, lifting out a keg. "Why, Mr. Garland?"

Reversing the keg, the young artist uttered a very startled exclamation. Across one end there was traced in ink the word: "Ambergis."

One hour later the happy old man knew that the old sea chest had contained treasure, indeed. Worth more than its weight in gold, the ambergis, rare and readily salable, represented over twelve thousand dollars.

Isabel clung close to the arm of the young man who had so loyally shared their troubles, as he escorted them to a hotel. The pressure of that dear hand thrilled Philip Carle.

And when they parted for the night, the decision had been reached that the musical and the art careers should be pursued—together.

Improbable Story Beginnings. As he rose to give her his seat, the young woman thanked him.

DAIL EREANN TO CONSIDER OFFER

All Developments of Past 24 Hours in Dublin Increase Optimism

Dublin, July 26.—Another full session of the Sinn Féin cabinet to consider the British peace terms, was held today with Eamon De Valera present.

De Valera said he would not have a statement for the press for several days.

London, July 26.—The Sinn Féin cabinet at Dublin is now ready for the offer of Premier Lloyd George, according to Premier Lloyd George, according to Premier Lloyd George.

All of the developments of the past 24 hours have been of such a nature as to increase rather than diminish optimism.

Premier Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons that the Irish armistice would continue, pending completion of the negotiations between the government and the Sinn Féin.

De Valera said he was hopeful that the offer of Premier Lloyd George's terms, which will be received from De Valera and that a general peace parley ultimately will be arranged.

While the Irish republican declared that the Sinn Féin would be content with nothing less than independence, it was pointed out that that independence could be achieved under the dominion form of government.

The Irish republican army chiefs and the commander of the crown forces in Ireland, are reported to have reached an agreement upon alleged violations of the truce by the English.

Agreement Reached. North and south Ireland have already reached an agreement upon the future form of Irish government, according to the Evening News.

The news added that some of the Sinn Féin delegates are ready to accept Premier Lloyd George's terms.

(South Ireland is republican, North Ireland is Unionist.)

May Revive Bonus Bill in Congress, Fordney Indicates

Washington, July 26.—After a conference with President Harding yesterday, Chairman Fordney of the House ways and means committee announced he would bring out his adjusted compensation bill in the near future.

The soldier bonus is not dead, although temporarily sidetracked by the action of President Harding in asking that it be postponed for the present.

Representative Fordney and other Congressional leaders believe, however, whether he had discussed the bonus with the President, when he announced his intention of calling up his bonus bill at the first opportunity.

This will mean the bill will be introduced in Congress, and it is not believed that the administration again will interfere.

The ways and means committee chairman indicated that bonus legislation will be considered along with the taxation program, which shortly will occupy the attention of the House.

By combining the two, it would be the object of Congressional leaders to arrange the tax schedules to provide for initial payments of the bonus.

The legislative committee of the American Legion is hard at work on a plan to revive the bonus issue in Congress, and already sees indications of success.

BIDS AGAINST FORD FOR NITRATE PLANT

Washington, July 26.—Henry Ford is not the only bidder for the great government nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala. It was announced at the War Department yesterday.

Officials declined to reveal the identity of the individual or interests bidding against the Detroit auto manufacturer on the ground that the offer has not yet been received.

Incidentally it was revealed that Mr. Ford's offer may have to be revised before it can be accepted. He offered to lease the Wilson dam at the Muscle Shoals plant provided the government would complete construction work on the project and progressively install hydro-electric facilities and equipment for generating 600,000 horsepower.

Army engineers are doubtful that the power capacity of the Tennessee River at that point is sufficient to generate such a huge horsepower. They are continuing their investigation, however, and will report definitely on this phase of the problem within a short time.

Alarm Felt for Safety of University Head and Wife

Banff, Alberta, July 26.—No trace has been found today of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue University, and Mrs. Stone, who have been missing since July 17.

Searching parties are scouring the country around Mount Eban and increasing alarm is felt for their safety.

Dr. Stone and his wife who are experienced mountaineers, left Mount Asinibonine camp on July 17 provisioned for a four-day walking tour in the Canadian Rockies. The only trace of them that has been found is a pair of shoes and a hat.

The discovery on Sunday last of the remains of a fire and some toilet articles that were discovered at the foot of Mount Eban, an unscalable peak.

Additional searching parties are being organized today by Professor Fay and Mr. Wheeler, director of the Alpine Club. A large number of mountaineers are in this region in preparation for the annual meet of the Alpine Club at Lake Louise and they will be called on to aid in the search.

ALONE FOR EIGHTEEN YEARS

Indian Woman, Abandoned on Desert Island, Finally Found by Party of Otter Hunters.

On San Nicholas island, which is uninhabited, a party of sea-otter hunters, landing to chance their luck, found, to their amazement, the imprint of human feet on the sandy shore—imprints freshly made. They scattered in search. But, the wind shifting and commencing to blow hard, they had to regain their vessel before the maker of the marks could be found. It was undeniable, however, a human being lived on this bleak, wind-blown island of sand and tall brushwood.

On returning to the mainland they reported the strange discovery, but nothing was done until a Roman Catholic priest was so moved by the news that he persuaded the captain of a small schooner to sail with him for San Nicolas. After two days' searching he discovered this lonely Crusoe—the first of a new kind. For he found inside a low hut of driftwood a woman more like a beast than a person.

She was clad in otter skins, and the feathered skins of the sea-fowl, and her companion was an otter, which she had caught very young and tamed.

The priest with difficulty got her story, for she had almost forgotten how to speak. Many years previously the small tribe of Indians to which she belonged—inhabitants of San Nicolas from time past—had been shifted by the government to the mainland. As they were being taken on board, her baby had fallen into the sea, and she had leaped after him, and in the dusk had been given up as drowned. She reached the shore, however, to find the child was dead. In utter loneliness she had lived there for 18 years.
